Budget Issues Great Problem In Badger State

Schmedeman Starts Forming Policies at Monday's Hearing

REVENUE FALLS OFF

New Governor's Course To be Important on Finance Issues

Madison — (P) — The financial policies of the Schmedeman administration, brought with the difficulties of greatly shrunken revenues will begin to take form when the governor-elect starts his budget hearings Monday.

Gathered around him in the finance committee rooms at the capitol will be seven members of the 1933 legislature, three Democrats, two Conservatives and two Progressives.

The problem which the new governor faces is one of budget balancing and the course he pursues in meeting it will have an important effect upon all proposals arising in the next legislature which requires financing out of the general fund.

According to present estimates the balance of funds left over from the LaFollette administration next July 1, when the new governor's first fiscal year begins will be about $4,000,000.

During that fiscal year it is now estimated that the receipts from income and inheritance taxes, utility taxes and other forms of levies apportioned to the state government outside of highway revenues, will be as low as $16,000,000.

That makes about $20,000,000 in the treasury, if the estimates are accurate, to meet all annual payments other than highway costs. Two million of this sum, however, must be maintained as a monthly balance in the general fund under the Duncan budget law.

The revenues that may be used are about $7,000,000 less than the normally estimated expenditures of the next fiscal year for capital departments, state school, the board of control and charitable institutions and the state aid payments to local governments.

Reduced Income For the highway department it is estimated that gasoline taxes and motor vehicles licenses will drop from $27,000,000 to around $22,000,000 and if highway construction is greatly curtailed federal aid funds, usually around $3,000,000 a year may be proportionately lessened.

The departments institutions and agencies that spend state funds expected to see their budget estimates slashed to bring them closer in line with anticipated revenues. State employees face salary cuts and local units of government which receive various kinds of help from the state may get less money in the next fiscal year. They are not getting all they expected this year, due to shrunken 1932 revenues.

Budget cutting and the raising of new taxes are the only means of keeping the state on an even financial keel and any resort to new taxes for general operations will narrow the field for raising funds that may be required for unemployment relief.

The Democratic administration has pledged a 25-per cent cut in state costs.

All sorts of new taxes, such as increased income and inheritance levies, more gas taxes and general sales taxes have been talked of but nothing like a definite program will be possible until Governor-elect Schmedeman determines the exact fiscal condition of the state.

It has been tentatively arranged to conclude the budget hearings in five days, three hearings to be held next week and two the following week.

On Monday the department of agriculture and markets, the conservation, industrial and tax commissions, the bureau of personnel, the small societies that receive state subsidies, the bureau of purchases, board of health and land use committee will be heard.

The state's policy toward the county and state fairs may be determined Monday.

$40,000 FOR RELIEF New York — (P) — The governing committee of the New York Stock exchange today announced that the exchange had contributed $40,000 to the city's emergency unemployment relief fund.

Germany Wins In Black Tom Claims Case

Umpire Owen J. Roberts Clears Reich in Kingsland Affair

FIRE NOT INCENDIARY

Set Down as Industrial Accident Rather Than German Plot

Washington — (P) — Owen J. Roberts, umpire of the German-American Mixed Claims commission, today handed down a decision favorable to Germany in the famous Black Tom and Kingsland cases.

The decision is the second and final one favorable to Germany in the cases which were reopened at the request of the American agents to permit the submission of new evidence.

The umpire was called in after the American commissioner, Chandler Anderson, disagreed with the German commissioner Wilhelm Kieselbach.

The previous decision favorable to Germany was unanimous by the two commissioners and the umpire.

These cases involved the destruction of the Lehigh Valley railroad's Black Tom terminal in New Jersey and the Kingsland, N. J., munitions plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry company just before the United States entered the world war.

The United States has sought to prove German agents responsible for both fires.

The combined Black Tom and Kingsland claims, including corollary underwriters' claims, aggregated approximately $40,000,000.

Stressed Spy Messages At the reopening of the case the United States placed much dependence upon a series of secret messages and letters in an effort to prove German complicity.

"With regard to the Kingsland case," Roberts said, "I am not able to conclude that the fire was of incendiary origin and think the proofs have gone very far toward the sort of industrial accident claimed by the German agent. It leaves me unable to conclude that the fire was the purposeful act of 'Theodore Wozniak'."

The United States had introduced evidence seeking to show that Wozniak, at whose bench the Kingsland fire started, was a German agent.

"From the new evidence," Roberts continued, "I am not able to conclude that Wozniak was a German agent; I am able to definitely conclude that Wozniak letters were fraudulent, prepared recently and not authentic and that the German messages introduced in evidence do not advance the American case."

The case is the last one to come before the commission. It will now conclude its ten years of litigation and turn its records over to the two governments.

Private claims totalling $188,000 have been awarded to American citizens against Germany by the commission. Of this sum about $132,000,000 has already been paid. Shipping board and other claims of the United States government totalling some $68,000,000 have been awarded in favor of the United States, but these will not be liquidated until after the private claims are paid in full.

Judge Denounces U. S. Wire Tapping Assails "Contemptible Vile Practice in Prohibition Case"

Boston — (P) — Federal Judge James A. Lowell kept a promise of long standing when he denounced the "contemptible vile practice" of wire tapping.

When that method of obtaining evidence in liquor cases was first introduced into this jurisdiction Judge Lowell promised an attack on it.

The attack came last night as he charged the jury in a liquor case involving 10 defendants. The jury returned a disagreement and was discharged after Judge Lowell had attacked wire tapping from the bench. Assistant U. S. Attorney Elihu D. Stone said a new trial would be held shortly.

Judge Lowell said that by wire tapping Uncle Sam became "a sneaking cur" instead of an honorable upright gentleman.

The justice spoke of federal agents who gave testimony based on wire tapping activities. "They are not snitches in any way with the contemptible character of wire tapping. They all did it because they were instructed to. They did it because higher ups thought it necessary in order to stop the practices which they are engaged in stopping."

$130,000 in Dividends By Brown County Bank

Green Bay — (P) — Distribution of more than $130,000 to depositors of the closed Brown County State bank will be started Tuesday by the People's Savings and Trust company, it was announced today. It is the second dividend of 25 per cent on deposits of the closed bank to be declared since the trust company took over the institution a year ago. Although not due for some time yet, officials said, the dividend was anticipated to aid the business situation.

Army in Triumph Over Midshipmen; Score 20-0

BULLETIN Philadelphia — (P) — John H. Borden, an uncle by marriage of Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, died suddenly today in the secretary's box at Franklin field while watching the Army-Navy football game.

Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Pa. — Each a sun day best through the haze with the mid-summer heat, sending temperatures soaring to around 60 degrees, the greatest crowd in the history of Franklin field, close to 79,000, watched Army defeat Navy by a score of 20 to 0.

"Pick" Vidal, Army's sensational quarterback, tallied a second period touchdown that gave the Cadets a 7-0 lead.

The Soldiers, with Vidal and Jack Buckler leading the attack, marched 55 yards to their touchdown early in the second quarter after Navy had held the upper hand in the first period and come within seven yards of crossing the Army goal line.

Vidal had only 3 yards to go on the scoring play after a succession of short but steady Army gains. Buckler place-kicked the extra point with Vidal holding the ball.

Army sprang a surprise by inserting Dick King into the lineup at end. It was this star's first appearance since he fractured an ankle in the Harvard game just a month ago. He did not play for more than about five minutes but looked in good shape.

Navy, with the aid of a 24-yard dash by Halfback Clark, put Army on the defense with the outset but after reaching Army's 7, the drive was broken up as Ken Fields intercepted a pass.

Gordon Chung-Hoon, Hawaiian halfback, rejuvenated the Navy with a sensational passing attack after Army had scored. Chung Hoon completed one pass for 28 yards, then raced to Army's 30 yard line on a brilliant jaunt but a fumble brought an abrupt end to this Navy comeback.

The Indian summer weather found the big crowd struggling to keep cool under heavy wraps and the players repeatedly taking time out to regain their collective breath. Both teams made frequent substitutions. Navy's defensive line play was sensational, the midshipmen holding the Cadets for downs on their three yard line late in the second period. Army's rushing attack was superior, registering eight first downs to five for Navy in the first half.

In the fourth period Buckler dropped back, with the ball on Navy's 30 yard line and passed to Frenzled, who was in the clear as he caught the ball on Navy's 5 and went over for the second Cadet touchdown. Buckler missed the kick for extra point and the score was Army 13; Navy 0.

Shortly afterward Navy came close to pulling off a touchdown play on a long pass, emerging from a lateral, but Pray, Navy end, just missed the catch, as he was closely pursued by two Army men. Chung Hoon made a great heave but its failure forced him to punt.

Late in the final period Army scored again, after advancing the ball by three straight downs from the Cadets' 40 yard line, to the two-yard mark. Stancock was stopped six inches from the goal line, and Buckler then crossed the Navy line, standing up on a dash around the Middles' right end. Brown's place-kick for the extra point was good. Score Army 20; Navy 0.

Von Schleicher Is Named Chancellor By Reich's Chief

President von Hindenburg Signs Appointment of New Leader

Berlin — (P) — General Kurt von Schleicher, who was requested yesterday by President von Hindenburg to form a new ministry, succeeded this afternoon and the president signed his appointment as chancellor of Germany.

Berlin — (P) — The firm General Kurt von Schleicher assembled a new cabinet to guide the Reich out of domestic disunion today, and every indication pointed to a final government similar in makeup to the Junker administration of Franz von Papen.

And like Von Papen, General Schleicher will face the Reichstag on Dec. 6 clothed with presidential authority to dissolve the law-making body if that drastic course becomes necessary.

Nevertheless the "power behind the Von Papen government" went about his task with the idea of making his cabinet a "government of conciliation," openly inviting co-operation from the Reichstag.

The ministries of agriculture, economics and labor were the fiscal points of attention, because it is in those posts that changes likely will come.

When Von Schleicher faces the Reichstag he probably will have the support of the 151 seats commanded by the Nationalists, Centrists, Bavarians and Populists. This is far short of a majority, however, of the 584 seats.

There were expectations the new cabinet would be completed today in order to end the uncertainty that has obtained for months.

President von Hindenburg awaited Gen. von Schleicher at 11:30 a. m. Up to that hour, Von Schleicher merely had been requested to form a cabinet.

After that time it was expected that he would be formally named chancellor, and his ministers appointed. It was possible the minister would be announced later in the day.

FRENCH PRESS DIFFERS Paris — (P) — The selection of Gen. Kurt von Schleicher as chancellor of Germany was regarded in the press today as inevitable, but comment was not wholly unsympathetic.

The conservative Avenir was convinced the general assumed the praiseworthy task of "wrestling the country from the formidable activities of extremists, both left and right."

The leftist press, such as Quotidien, preferred "an open adversary who says what he means, to a sly enemy trying to finesse."

MILWAUKEEAN KILLED Milwaukee — (P) — While walking to a lodge meeting, Frank T. Kenaston, 75, was killed last night in West Allis, a suburb, when struck by an automobile driven by Frank S. Palosky, a mechanic.

Land Defenses Not Adequate, Hurley States

Existing World Conditions Puts Them Below Par, Secretary Thinks

STRESSES ECONOMY

Opposes Immediate U. S. Action for Independence Of Philippines

Washington — (P) — The view that existing conditions throughout the world make American land defenses below par was expressed today by Secretary Hurley in his annual report to President Hoover.

Hurley also again bespoke his objection to Philippine independence and now, opposed consolidation of the army and navy, recommended promotion laws for army officers, suggested legislation for a "comprehensive solution" of the Muscle Shoals problem, and said that in the last year "stringent economy . . . has been enforced in every agency under the department's control."

"The problems of armament are essentially relative," the secretary of war wrote. "Despite our comparative isolation we can not ignore foreign military potentialities when planning our land defense."

"The temper of the world, while pointing toward conciliation, can not be said to have crystallized in that direction. As one of the public officials charged with responsibility with the maintenance of our security, it is my reasoned belief that all elements of our land defense are at or below the present minimum needs."

He emphasized that reductions should be made "only after the most mature consideration and careful weighing of the results to be expected."

Not Partisan Issue "Unbalanced military expenditures," he reported, "appropriated with a view only to curtailment of funds, are likely to more extravagantly than are larger sums allotted on an intelligent and practical basis . . . National defense should never be permitted to become a partisan question."

Of the bills which would grant Philippine independence in 10 to 20 years and which are to be taken up by the senate Wednesday, he reiterated this statement made to a senate committee last June.

"The political chain in the orient today is such that in my opinion this is no time to deal with Philippine independence. The present

Father Testifies For Bert Arnold

Boy Slayer Expected to Learn Fate Today in Chicago Court

Chicago — (P) — C. B. Arnold described the boyhood and home life of his 16-year-old son today to Judge Prystalski who must sentence the youth for killing his step-grandmother.

The manufacturer, grieving for the death of his second wife's mother, Mrs. Ellen Saxe, and for the plight of his first wife's son Charles Bertrand Arnold, Jr., testified that the two had only affection for each other as far as he knew. He could not explain what led the boy to kill her with a hammer two weeks ago.

It was the day on which young Bert expected to learn the length of the sentence he would receive if he served it, having pleaded guilty last week and waived the sanity issue. The state likewise waived its claim of death.

His father said he had no inkling of the inferiority complex blamed by alienists for some of the boy's actions. He had not talked to his son about the "day dreams" which mental experts said were used by the boy to compensate himself for lack of leadership qualities among his peers.

Police who investigated the slaying of the 60-year-old woman in the Arnold home in Riverside told of finding her battered body in a cistern.

Estimate Storm Cost In Canadian District

Vancouver, B. C. — (P) — In a wide section, extending from 100 miles east of Vancouver to Alberta and south into the Okanagan valley, a survey of storm damage was underway today.

Swirling down from the north Friday, the early winter storm, which almost reached blizzard proportions in some sections, crippled wire communications for many hours, delayed train service and tied up highway traffic.

Communication with eastern Canada was reestablished last night, and trains were making their way into Vancouver after long delays.

In contrast, the weather was clear and mild on the coast, while in the Pitt Meadows area of the lower mainland flood conditions prevailed today. Loss to cattle herds is reported.

Week's Weather

Chicago — (P) — Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday, Dec. 5 — For the region of the Great Lakes: Fair Monday, unsettled Tuesday and Wednesday, probably some precipitation north portion, generally fair balance of week; temperature near or above normal most of week.

Congress Ready For Opening of Short Session

Representatives, Senators Returning To Capital

FACE MUCH ACTION

Dry Law, Farm Aid, Budget, War Debts To be Debated

Washington — (P) — Capitol Hill bustled today in the expectancy of big things soon to come, the great and small of its denizens busy with last minute preparations for the opening of the short congressional session on Monday.

Between the hearty greetings of returning senators and representatives ran currents of questioning and dispute, over the prohibition repeal resolution slated for a house vote at the first meeting, over war debts, balancing the budget, taxes, farm relief and a succession of lesser problems due for airing between now and March.

It became increasingly apparent, with upturn of Democrats from conferring with President-elect Roosevelt at Warm Springs, that the forces of that party hope to lay in this session the course for the next administration, swinging away from the 12 year domination of the government by Republicans, and averting if possible a special session of the new congress early next year.

Prohibition First Already bidding for a place in history as probably the last "lame duck" session—the last congress in which defeated representatives will have a voice in government—it is set upon a record-making course through the decision of house leaders to vote at the very start on placing before the people a constitutional amendment to do away with prohibition.

Conflict has sprung from this before over the question could come up, in refusal of the judiciary committee to sponsor the resolution. But Speaker Garner insisted the proposal will be voted on. He was told today by the assistant party whip, Milligan of Missouri, that over 150 Democrats would favor the outright repeal called for by Garner's amendment.

Milligan said "indications are that the repeal resolution will be adopted" by the necessary two-thirds majority.

"If the Republicans give us 110 votes," he said, "I believe the resolution is safe."

If adopted by the house, the resolution may find an early place before the senate. Only today, Senator McNary, assistant leader of the Republicans who still control that branch, said efforts would be made to bring up the prohibition question immediately Philippine independence is out of the way. This is the first issue before his branch.

Aid For Jobs? Pressure for relief to the unemployed will be upon congress at its meeting hour, in the form of caravans of demonstrators from all directions, converging upon the capitol to protest against present conditions.

Major task of every short session is passage of ten or more bills making appropriations for running the government next year. Usually little else is accomplished but this year many are clamoring for more; and a race is in sight to pack into the brief three months legalization and taxation of beer, some form of aid to farmers, conflicting plans for veterans involving renewed attempts to pay the bonus in full now and strenuous efforts to cut down the compensations they are receiving. In addition efforts are being directed at overhauling the relief machinery, expanding the Reconstruction corporation and changing such organization as the home loan bank board.

Two treaties are pending for the senate to act upon, and many presidential appointments are up, but few are expected to be confirmed.

FIND SPURIOUS MONEY Chicago — (P) — Secret service agents found $55,000 in counterfeit currency today in safety deposit boxes of a loop bank. The seizure, which included also a number of plates for the manufacture of spurious money, was the largest in years.

Three Men Arrested In Robbery, Slugging

Green Bay — (P) — The robbery and slugging of Fred L. Buckley, 69-year-old confederate in his store here Nov. 12, was solved today, police announced, with the admissions of Ben Keller, 28, and Gordon Mullen, 26, of Green Bay, and Henry Tank, 19, Pulaski, that they had committed the crime. Buckley was beaten brutally and left tied to a bed while three gunmen rifled his belongings.

The three men are being held incommunicado, and are to be questioned further on suspicion of being implicated in other crimes. They already have admitted one burglary besides the Buckley robbery.

Change Being Considered in Budget Plans

Roosevelt Advisers Suggest Drastic Revision of System

Warm Springs, Ga.—(P)—A drastic change in the nation's budgetary system which would divide the budget originating power equally between congress and the chief executive is being studied by some of the advisers of Franklin D. Roosevelt in surveying for him methods toward improvement.

The plan which some of the experts brought to the next chief executive calls for adoption by congress of a total for the nation's budget with each party to be placed on record in favor of the sum it believes necessary to maintain governmental activities.

Details of the plan have not been completed, but under it those who sponsor the proposal believe a better result could be attained than under the present system by which, they say, congress works piecemeal on budgetary legislation. Some of them believe the present appropriations committees of the house and senate might deal with the matter of shaping the entire budget, allocating expenditures to the different departments with a view to their relative importance to the nation's activities.

Measures for each of the departments separately and considering them without respect to the needs of the other departments.

In his consideration of the budget, Mr. Roosevelt has called to Warm Springs a number of advisers, both in congress and out, during the past several days. In addition, he talked with numerous congressional leaders while in Washington a few days ago. His list of callers today included a group of men who came to talk on widely separated subjects.

Senator Cutting, Republican who supported him in the campaign, was among them. Senator Cutting was expected yesterday, but failed to reach Warm Springs.

Plans Inaugural
There also was Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who came as chairman of the inaugural committee to round out plans for the inauguration ceremonies. This conference was expected to be concluded late in the day.

Today's talks brought to an end the series of conferences Mr. Roosevelt has been conducting at Warm Springs. He expects to spend tomorrow and Monday resting and will leave Tuesday afternoon to return to Albany for a special session of the New York legislature.

The president-elect received a recommendation late yesterday from a group of individual cotton shippers that a non-partisan liquidating agency be set to dispose ultimately of the more than three million bales of cotton they say the government controlled either through the farm board, through the payment of agriculture as collateral for seed loans, or through cooperative agencies.

The delegation told Mr. Roosevelt that the Farm Marketing act which created the farm board should be repealed and asks that no more legislation which they termed experimental be enacted for the farmer.

Mr. Roosevelt also discussed with Louis B. Magid, president of the Georgia Apple Growers association, the farm mortgage refinancing question.

Magid advocated a plan calling for the issuance by the federal government of bonds to the money from their sale to be used for loans to farmers at the same interest rate paid by the government, plus one half of 1 per cent.

The amount of interest paid in excess of the rate paid by the government would go into a fund to take care of any losses the treasury might incur.

44 Cases of Disease Reported in County

Forty-four cases of contagious disease were reported from Outagamie county in the week ending Nov. 26, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state board of health.

Thirty-eight of the cases were reported from Appleton as follows: chicken pox, 17; measles, 20; and scarlet fever, 1. The town of Center reported a case of chicken pox; the town of Grand Chute single cases of chicken pox and measles; and Shiocton a case of chicken pox and one of measles.

Execution of Andre Is Described in Old Letter

Williamsburg, Va.—(P)—A letter found in the attic of an old house here and published for the first time, gives new facts about the execution of Maj. John Andre and the treachery of Benedict Arnold.

The letter, written by Joseph Eggleston, a Virginia officer in the Continental army, and published in "A Williamsburg Scrap Book," quoted Andre as saying just before he was hanged that "the gentlemen present could bear him witness, he died like a brave man."

An account of the execution was found among the papers of St. George Tucker. It was written from Tappan, N. Y., where Eggleston was stationed, and was dated Oct. 4, 1780 two days after the historic event occurred.

"Extremely regretted by both friends and enemies," the letter said, "he is a lamentable instance of the necessity of example, when there is no criminality in the object."

"His great ability, his military virtues, and engaging manners, endeared him remarkably to the British army, his modesty, his firmness, his high sentiments of honour,

Note Reduction in Postoffice Receipts

There was a decrease of $1,528.59 in receipts at Appleton postoffice last month compared with the same period in 1931, according to officials. The total receipts for November of this year aggregated $12,182.48, compared to $13,711.07 in November, 1931. The total amount received in sales of stamp stock and other items totalled $14,332.33, but the 15 per cent deducted from that amount under the relief act reduces the receipts to $12,182.48.

Stamp sales for the month totalled $13,112.60; excess on sale of stamp paper, $4.41; second class postage collected from publishers, $288.82; postage on permit matter, $924.51; miscellaneous receipts, $2.69, and box rent, $2.

Chilton Farmers Join Holiday Body

Must Organize to Bring Back Prosperity, Says Arnold Gilbert

At a recent mass meeting at Chilton nearly all the farmers joined the Wisconsin Holiday association. An address was delivered by Arnold Gilbert, Ridgeland, president of the association.

"It is our job to bring back prosperity and we can accomplish that task by becoming organized all over the United States," he said.

"There is no class of citizens that has received as much advice as the farmer. The farmer has been told that he should produce more, and also to plow under a part of his crops to prevent over-production. It was not cannons, war ships nor bayonets that won the world's war, but food. Foods will win again for the farmer, but he must be organized in order that his demands upon congress for fair price may get attention and action."

"To utility corporations and railroads reduce prices and freight rates on account of a decreased demand for products on empty box cars? Not at all. There is no trouble in the line of over-production on farms, but our farm distribution system is faulty."

To get lower rates of interest on farm mortgages and minimum prices on farm commodities established the speaker urged the immediate enactment of the Frazier and Thomas bills by congress.

He gave the National Holiday association credit for the federal seed loans and farm loans given to farmers this year, who needed such assistance.

"We are not withholding any farm products from the market, but are preparing to do so," he said. "Farmers do not intend to starve any human beings and to set up milk depots, to which milk will be delivered free by farmers during the continuance of the proposed milk strike. The farmer is in reality his brother's keeper, and it is from the products of the soil that the people of this country must get their sustenance during this winter, including starved children in cities that are clinging to their mothers' aprons begging for food. Providence has provided food in abundance, and yet millions are short of food. God did not make the present depression. It is man-made. It is our job to bring back prosperity and we may do so through organization of farmers throughout the United States."

Action on Ice Fishing Weighed By State Board

Commission May Open Lakes, Streams in 27 Wisconsin Counties

Outagamie-co sportsmen are waiting with interest for a decision from the Wisconsin conservation commission regarding regulations on ice-fishing this winter. Availability of opening waters in 27 counties after Jan. 1 is being considered by the commission.

Waters which the commission may open to ice fishing were those named in an emergency act passed by the 1931 legislature, permitting ice fishing with not more than three lines until Jan. 1, 1932. The act provided that if the commission, upon investigation and hearing, found the emergency still existent, it could extend provisions of the section if the fish supply would not be endangered. These investigations now are being conducted.

Waters named in the emergency provision included: all waters in Barron, Buffalo, Crawford, Dane, Jackson, La Crosse, Outagamie, Pepin and Vernon counties; all waters in Burnett county except Clam lake; in Jefferson county except Spring lake; in Kenosha county except Lily lake; Pierce county except Lake St. Croix; Polk county except Pike lake, Twin lakes in the town of Lincoln and a portion of Apple river; St. Croix county except Lake St. Croix and the St. Croix river including the falls.

Trempealeau county except Lake Marinuk; Washburn county except Shell lake and a chain of lakes; Washington county except Silver, Lucas and Hackbart lakes; and Waushara county except Lake Tichigan, Eagle lake and Browns lake; and in Vilhous bay, Superior bay, St. Louis bay and the St. Louis river connected with Lake Superior in Douglas county; Beef slough and Half Moon lake in Eau Claire county; Lake Wausau and the Eau Claire river in Marathon county; the Oconto river in Oconto county; Wisconsin river and Plover river in Portage county; Eagle lake in Racine county; Lake Koshkonong in Rock county; and Lakes Delavan, Turtle and Geneva in Walworth county.

Ice fishing from Jan. 1 to April 30 is permitted annually in Lake Koshkonong, and in all waters in Calumet, Fond du Lac, Outagamie, and Winnebago counties and in Bayfield county except in Lake Owen; and in most waters in Waupaca and Waushara counties.

Mueller Renamed Head of Company

Farmers Threaten to Abandon Lines Unless Rates are Cut

A. W. Mueller, Appleton, was reelected president of the Twelve Corners-Mackville Telephone Co. at the annual meeting at Gairnor's hall, Mackville, yesterday afternoon.

Other officers reelected for the coming year are: Jake Fries, Black Creek, vice president; Carl Kreutzman, Black Creek, treasurer; Fred Mueller, Black Creek, secretary; and Frank Wagner, Black Creek, director.

The group continued a discussion on telephone rate reductions, various residents of that vicinity declaring that unless exchange service rates are not cut within the near future, lines will be left idle until farmers receive better prices for their products.

This group of farmers three months ago petitioned the Wisconsin Public Service commission for a reduction in rates. They also asked the commission to make a thorough study of the rate situation of the company.

Arthur DeNoble, 29, DePere, is in a serious condition at St. Elizabeth hospital with a double skull fracture sustained when he either fell or jumped from a moving Chicago and Northwestern train shortly after noon yesterday. Attending physicians this morning said that DeNoble's condition was better today, although he was not yet out of danger.

The accident happened about 75 feet east of the Pacific-st crossing with the railroad. DeNoble was seen hanging to the side of a car and a short time later he fell. He has been unable to say whether he fell or jumped. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. The train was northbound.

Hortonville Fair Dropped $1,120 This Year, Report

Receipts Totaled $9,800 While Disbursements Reached $10,999

The Outagamie County Agricultural association, which annually conducts a fair at Hortonville, showed a loss of $1,120.93 on its fair this year, according to an annual report presented to the county board by Milford L. Steffen, fair secretary. The report showed receipts of $9,878.98 and disbursements of $10,999.91. However, the association had a balance in its treasury from the previous year of $1,212.42, enough to wipe out the deficit and leave a balance of $91.49.

Receipts for the fair this year $972.25; space and privileges, $197.20; stall and pen fees, $414; advertising, $183.20; state aid, estimated $2,953.56; county aid, $2,250; loans, $2,900; dividends, $8.37.

Disbursements were as follows: premiums, $3,692.45; special acts and features, $1,100; salaries of officers, $281; judges and superintendents, $185.25; police, gate and other help, $152.50; advertising and publicity, $281.53; ribbons and banners, $94.20; printing and supplies, $299.43; maintenance, $1,161.77; insurance, $110.08; water, light and power, $49.11; interest on loans, $95; repayment of loan, $2,900; payment on mortgage, $500.

State Officials To Attend Meet

Kelleter, Immel Expected At Gathering of Game Association

Paul D. Kelleter, director of Wisconsin Conservation commission, and Ralph M. Immel, commissioner, both of Madison, are expected to attend the annual meeting and pheasant dinner of Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association next Wednesday evening at Hotel Northern. Invitations have been sent to sportsmen and conservationists throughout the county.

Following the pheasant dinner, the annual report on the association's year's work will be given. This report, illustrated by motion pictures of operations, is believed to cover the most comprehensive conservation program ever undertaken by a sportsmen's organization in this part of the state.

A reel of motion pictures, furnished by the conservation commission and showing the prairie chicken in the wilds, will be shown. This picture shows the chicken in all stages, including egg hatching, wild hens, brooding chicks and other phases.

Following the election of officers and directors, considerable time is to be devoted to a discussion of desired changes in the conservation laws affecting rabbit hunting and trapping in Outagamie-co.

legislation directed to that end would serve the interests of neither the Philippine people nor the United States."

To that he said, he now could add: "The bill constitutes no solution—economic, political, or social—to the question of future Philippine-American relations. Its provisions reflect not progressive steps... but an attempt to prescribe detailed measures to be applied over a long period and under future conditions that can not be known in advance."

He intends to involve the United States in a series of unnecessary and premature commitments for the future."

Hurley said that the joint board and the aeronautical board already were cooperating activities of the army and navy and "are fully capable of working out any future adjustments between the services which the needs of the country may indicate."

He observed that motorization and mechanization are proceeding satisfactorily in the army and that "stagnation in provision" could be remedied by suitable legislation "without adding to the government's burden."

The national guard, he said, has proved its worth, although, with the rest of the army, it suffers from a lack of modern motor transportation.

He said $345,000,000 would be necessary to carry out authorized rivers and harbors and flood control work; that the Panama canal in the last fiscal year did not earn the annual interest charges of 3 per cent; that congress should enact legislation like that recommended by the Muscle Shoals commission that the recommendations of the war policies commission should be written into law.

BOYS GO ON HIKE
A group of about 20 boys from the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. went on a hike this morning down river toward Kimberly. C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary of the association, had charge of the group. Lunches were taken along and boys were expected back during the afternoon.

Reviews Highlights of Recent Fishing Season

By Bert Claflin

Now that the season for angling, with the exception of ice fishing as indulged in by some of the hardier sportsmen, is over for this year, I am writing this article as a sort of rehash of notable events that transpired during the past season, and with no attempt at order. I am just setting down some of the reports made to me from various parts of the country.

From Pennsylvania: Fishing with live bait is not in the angling calendar of Rev. James H. Goss, of Lewistown, Pa. Dr. Goss, an ardent fly fisherman, devoted the major part of his fishing this season to central Pennsylvania streams. For his season's catch he lists the following: 260 speckled trout; 145 black bass; a large number of rock bass, pickerel and sunfish.

At the tarpon rodeo, held recently at Port Aransas, Texas, W. A. Logan made a remarkable catch in landing on a fly rod—yes, a fly rod of 84 ounces—a tarpon measuring 5 feet 7 inches in length, in the record time of 31 minutes. The rod used, as stated, weighed but 64 ounces, and the big tarpon was taken on an artificial wooden minnow.

The world's record long distance cast is 585 feet, three inches, made by Primo Livenais, San Francisco, Calif. This, of course, was made with a short casting rod. Anglers who find difficulty in getting their plugs out a hundred feet will appreciate this feat.

On Michigan Grayling
Here is something of interest: Beginning next year with the completion of a trout feeding station on the Otter River, another effort will be made to propagate the Michigan Grayling which has practically disappeared from the streams of that state. Michigan last tried to propagate the grayling in 1925 when a number were seized from the Otter River. Despite every precaution all died within a few years, apparently without spawning. The Michigan grayling is more fragile and delicate minded than the Montana and the Alaska grayling. The Otter River is believed to be alone in population of this species, unique to Michigan.

At Madison, Wisconsin, they're raising baby trout on milk. Thanks to the milk diet, it is found possible to bring the young trout to fingerling size before planting. Long experimental work was carried on at the Madison hatchery in the effort to raise brown trout to fingerling size. There was little success until the milk diet was discovered. Dried milk is used. This is mixed into a thick paste, which forms lumps. These lumps are then fed to the little fish. After the fish have attained substantial growth, there is added to the milk diet a ration of finely chopped beef or sheep liver. This is the food used by Mr. Carson of the Wisconsin Public Service at his hatcheries at High Falls on the Peshtigo River.

Wisconsin should be able to maintain its fishing, inasmuch as in some of the states farther south they first have to make artificial lakes, then plant fish in them. In Iowa, two well-eyes were caught, one weighing 84 pounds and the other, 83 pounds. It shows their fish are protected.

Yo-ho-ho for the Trade Winds!

Good Merchantmen Are Still Sailing! Read the Logs of Their Voyages and Keep Your Weather Eye on the Breeze!

YES, the business breeze is blowing again, on the land as well as on the sea, and there are straws to show which way it is blowing.

You can see them daily—unless you're the kind that has to be hit with a bale to know there's something doing.

Price straws—sales straws—straws of production, employment, credit . . . they're tickling the ears of a latent $40,000,000,000 purchasing power that some folks say is just beginning to wake up and take notice.

And when the Trade Winds blow, that's the time to hoist your sails—spell it "sales"—and it's more to the point—and move ahead. It's true you can drift with the turning tide . . . you can wait for business to tow you back . . . but if you want to beat the others in, newspaper advertising's sales can catch the Trade Winds.

And here's proof, gathered by the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association:

One leading refrigerator manufacturer, asserting that "newspaper advertising is essential to merchandising success" reported September sales up 43% in response to a newspaper campaign, notwithstanding an expected seasonal decline of business in that month.

A manufacturer of toilet articles, doubling the newspaper advertising appropriation, raised net earnings to $3,283,785 in the first half of 1932, compared with $2,682,345 in the same period of 1931.

One of the largest chain stores in the country, increasing its newspaper expenditure by $13,000 in the first week of October realized an $800,000 increase in sales above the week preceding.

A major automobile concern recently reported an increase of 580% in factory shipments in the first 23 days of a newspaper advertising drive.

Using large weekly space in a list of newspapers, a paper manufacturer developed 14,000 retail outlets in 65 days, and jumped from nothing to second place among several hundred competitors.

In response to "the greatest newspaper drive ever put behind a line of food products," a large cereal manufacturer recently reported "the best day's sales in the company's history."

Using newspaper advertising exclusively, in the face of a 25% decline in the general business of his industry, a prominent oil burner maker reports sales increase of 16% for the year ended July 1, 1932.

One large restaurant chain increased its newspaper expenditure 35% in the first six months of 1932, and sales advanced 7.5% over the same period of 1931.

Shifting from other mediums to the use of newspapers exclusively, a shoe company reports September increases of from 10% to 50% among its dealers as compared with 1931.

A leading oil company, increasing its newspaper advertising lineage by 33%, raised its net earnings from $5,644,000 in the first half of 1931 to $6,917,000 in the same period of 1932.

Two large tobacco companies, accustomed to spending together over $15,000,000 annually in newspapers, reported increased business in the second quarter of this year—one anticipating the best year in its history.

These are only straws . . . but they're a few among many, and they show which way the wind is blowing.

Board Places $66,300 Into Road Budget

Figure Is $25,000 Less Than Amount Originally Asked by Committee

Outagamie-co's highway budget for 1933 will be $66,300, or $25,000 less than the amount originally asked by the highway committee and $5,000 less than the committee asked in the amended request. This figure was set this morning by the county board following a week of meetings which were marked by bitter fights over the highway appropriations.

The battle over the road budget for 1933 has kept the board in a turmoil ever since the session started. Supervisors F. O. Smith, Hortonville; Sylvester Esler, Kaukauna; R. C. Schultz, town of Cicero, led the floor battles for the reduction, while Supervisors Arnold Krueger, Maple Creek, chairman of the highway committee, T. H. Ryan, Appleton, and Anton Jansen, Little Chute, defended the highway department.

The low set up the budget for 1933 will be spent as follows: $20,000 for the garage fund, instead of $30,000 asked originally by the committee; $5,000 for the emergency bridge fund; $2,000 for county town aid projects; $41,300 for county road maintenance instead of $56,300 asked by the committee originally.

The fight over the highway budget has been marked by a series of parliamentary actions so involved that the board was constantly seeking rulings from the district attorney to guide them in their actions. Crowds of spectators have been present for every session and the supervisors, battling for the reductions, received rounds of applause after every telling presentation of argument.

State Funds Due
In addition to the funds to be raised by the county next year the highway department is to receive the following estimated amounts from the state: $15,122.24 for maintenance of county highways; $35,900 for bond retirement; $78,718.66 for improvement of highway 54 and an amount sufficient for maintenance of state highways, snow removal and drift prevention.

The battle over the road budget started when it was first introduced and Supervisors Beck, Smith and Esler attacked the items set up for the garage fund and for county road maintenance. The report was sent back to the committee for revision and the committee returned the same budget, claiming that the amount asked was absolutely necessary. After further discussion the report was again sent back to the committee and for a second time the committee refused to make a cut.

Then Supervisors Smith and Esler and their opponents, cutted in, amending the report, reducing $30,000 from the maintenance fund and $10,000 from the garage funds. This report was adopted, as amended, last Thursday by a vote of 21 to 19. On Friday Supervisor Mike Jacobs moved to reconsider and yesterday afternoon the highway committee met and drew up a third report in which it recommended a cut of $10,000 in the garage fund and $10,000 in the maintenance fund.

Amended Report Beaten
The first parliamentary move this morning came when supervisors favoring the more drastic reduction, moved to adopt the original report as amended, providing for a cut of $40,000. This motion was lost by a vote of 22 to 19 following long and eloquent arguments by Supervisors T. H. Ryan, Krueger, Smith and Schultz.

Supervisors voting for adoption of the report providing the $40,000 cut were: Baumgartner, Brandt, Diedrick, Esler, Farrell, Galloway, Garvey, Konrad, Kreutzman, Nichols, O'Connor, Schultz, Sherman, Smith, Tate, Thiessenhusen, Van Dyke and Schmidt.

Committee Favors Two New Ordinances

Recommendation that two traffic ordinances be adopted was made by the ordinance committee at a meeting at city hall Friday evening. The ordinances provide for arterial stop signs on the corner of Superior and Washington streets and two hour parking on Superior street, with the exception of the un-widened half block adjoining the Lutheran Aid building, where there will be no parking, and in front of the postoffice and telephone buildings, where there will be only five minute parking.

City Drops Rent Limit for Poor

Won't Pay More Than $12 Per Month for Family, Committee Decides

The maximum rent to be paid by the city for dependent families was changed from $15 to $12 monthly at a meeting of the public relief committee Friday evening. A plan for paying rent according to the assessed valuation of the property will be worked out, and a portion of the rent due the property owner will be withheld to insure the payment of taxes next year. If the amount withheld is in excess of the amount of the taxes on the property, the surplus will be refunded to the property owner.

Thirteen public relief committee members, E. Schweitzer, will distribute the orders for rent instead of Joseph A. Kox, the treasurer, so the new plan can be explained to the landlords when they collect their checks.

Announcement of the markings made in the investigator examinations showed that the grades ranged from 13 to 86 per cent. The most successful applicants will be called in for personal interviews if it is decided to add new workers to the public relief staff. Any applicant who wishes to secure his rating in the examination may get the information from Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

FIREMEN CALLED

The fire department was called to the residence of W. R. Jones, 926 W. Oklahoma-ave, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a smoking oil stove led occupants to believe a fire had started. No serious damage resulted.

fact that four members of the highway committee voted in favor of abolishing the offices of county agent and home demonstration agent. That meant the magnificent saving of about 35 cents on each $10,000 of assessed property in the county. Now, with the possibility of making a real cut, which will mean dollars instead of cents to the taxpayers, we find these same committee members ready to shirk their duty. Under the budget, with the $40,000 cut, the committee still gets $254 per mile of road and that should be sufficient to care for the roads. How much do they need, $5,000 a mile? We must make sacrifices in times like these. We must cut our suit according to the cloth we have.

Supervisor Schultz suggested that if the committee couldn't take care of the roads for $254, that the work be let to contractors. He said there were a dozen who would be glad to take the job at that price. Both Mr. Schultz and Mr. Beck drew applause from the spectators.

A plea to consider the plight of the working man, many of whom are much worse off than the farmers, he said, was made by Supervisor Jansen.

Krueger Offers Plea
It was probably Supervisor Krueger's impassioned plea, that kept the board from making the $40,000 cut. Mr. Krueger explained that the committee was recommending $20,000 less by cutting out a vital part of its work. He said the committee had honestly and earnestly tried to determine how much money was needed to keep the roads in shape.

Success Marks Production of Little Theatre

"The Poor Little Rich Girl" Presented at Lawrence Chapel

Blonde, 11-year-old Virginia Gorrow, as Gwendolyn, the Poor Little Rich Girl, captured the hearts of her audience last night from the moment the first curtain raised in the three-act play presented at the chapel by the Little Theatre of the Fox River Valley. "The Poor Little Rich Girl" marks the first success of the amateur community theater group this year with plans being made for two more productions.

Little Miss Gorrow, who had the leading role in the play as the rich child playing "pretend" and longing to get out of doors to play in the mud, carried the theme of the entire story through her lines. With the scene opening in the spacious home of wealthy parents the audience meets the cast as they are in fact, changing to a delightful, fantastic world with the second act in which the child is ill, seeing the character only in the light of their personal characteristics in the tell-tale forest scene.

Outstanding Scenes
Carmen Beck played an excellent role as the child's governess in the first act and delighted the audience with her hissing, which characterized her as the glittering green and silver snake in the grass in the tell-tale forest. Outside of the individual work of little Virginia, Mrs. Beck and Harold Fuller as Potter, the butler, the outstanding scenes were between Dorothy Jane Segal as Jane the nurse and Charles Kuesman as Thomas the butler. Both took their parts easily and furnished much of the comedy element to the act in their cross sparring of words.

Although in a minor part Harold Fuller gave a superb performance as the butler. Wilbur Hansen was outstanding in his difficult roles of the stiff legged toy soldier or the King's English and the little bird who tells things, in which he gave a splendid act of amateur ventriloquy. He and Mr. Kuesman reached the height in their duel with sharp edged tongues, Thomas with his Cockney loaded tongue-sword and the King's English with good grammar in the exciting murder scene in the forest.

Next to Gwendolyn, in the longer acts, Robert Beggs stood out as the organ grinder, with his excellent speaking voice and humorous lines over which the audience chuckled continuously during the land of make believe.

The society people, who portrayed "they" or conventional, gave their best work in the dim scene during which they chanted in unison, their voices rising from a hush to a climax and back to a whisper in illustration of how gossip is spread about.

Children Delighted
For a short role, John Schneider as the broker, showed some good acting. John Frank took the unusual role of Puffy, the large bear with a great head which delighted the children in the audience. The teachers in the opening scene of play included Kenneth Raetz, Lola May Zuelke, Marcella Haberman and Maude Harwood. Rufe Gile took the part of the plumber; Katherine Pratt the role of Gwendolyn's mother, the woman who had a social bee in her bonnet; Arthur Smith, the father who was harassed to his money making machine; Edgar Koch, who also gave an outstanding performance as the doctor who rides hobbies.

The society people included Mary Brooks, Cecelia Warner, Muriel Renner, Robert Rechner and Marlin Pitt. Howard Ruff took the part of the acrobatic policeman.

The scenery for the play was an unusual part of this production, perhaps the most outstanding ever staged by an amateur group in Appleton. The first act was an especially attractive interior, followed by the fantastic forest scene. Robin Hood's barn stood out as the clearest scene of the group, inasmuch as it was a black and white representation of a child's crude sketch of a barn. This entire scene was played behind a filmy gauze which lent to the atmosphere of the unreality of the scene.

Lions Won't Meet For Monday Luncheon

Appleton Lions will not meet Monday noon for their weekly luncheon session, but will attend a joint forum luncheon Thursday at Conway. All service club members are meeting that day at 12:15 to hear a talk by Claude Ebling, Rhineland, of the land division of the Soo Line railway.

W. E. Smith, president of the club, and George E. Johnson, past president, are expected to attend the annual meeting of officers of the twenty-seventh district at Green Bay Monday. Several other members of the club also are planning to attend. The sessions open at 10 o'clock in the morning at Bestmont hotel. There will be a luncheon at noon and a banquet at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Think Deeply, Students Told

Must be Strong Mentally And Spiritually, Says Economist

Miss Grace Leigh Scott, social economist, who is engaged in a speaking program on general character education, addressed the student body of Lawrence college at convocation in the Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday morning. She urged the students to think things through far in advance and to learn to apply their education in a practical way in life.

"Decision between pleasure and happiness is the challenge before the youth of today in high schools and colleges," she said. "Life demands the best in us, and we must be strong physically, mentally and spiritually."

Miss Scott brought out that youthful suicides happen because the victim failed to choose wisely between pleasure and happiness. The greatest enemy to a person is within himself rather than without, she said. Unless the person is prepared, he is likely to choose unwisely in a time when a quick decision must be made.

A special effort is being made in educational institutions to prepare the youths so they can be able to decide for the best in life when the time comes, she explained. A large percentage of children being born today are morally deficient. Education along the right lines will enable the student to rise above this mark if he is able to apply his education in a practical way.

"We should investigate things thoroughly before trying or undertaking them," she said. "We should discover the laws of life and learn to harmonize with them. We should practice self control and self restraint. In this way we can stand for the best ideals and be an asset to society."

Cut Salary Budgets, Voters' Club Urges
A resolution recommending that all departments of the city cut their salary budgets was adopted by the Third Ward Voters club Friday evening following a discussion of city finances by W. E. Gmeiner, alderman from the Third ward. The resolution will be presented to the mayor and common council.

Need Cooperation To Bring World Recovery--Eddy

Missionary Board Secretary Is Speaker at Layman's Meeting

International cooperation, rather than the efforts of one nation, will bring world recovery, Dr. D. Brewster Eddy, Boston, secretary of the Congregational Missionary board, told about 10 persons representing laymen in Appleton churches at a meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. He offered no suggestions for bringing about world recovery, stating that cooperation was the broad basis on which recovery could be brought about.

The speaker also mentioned cooperation in other world affairs, religion among others, and went into a thorough discussion of his views and the finding of a committee which investigated the far east missionary field a short time ago. The opinions generally were those expressed in the committee's report.

One suggestion was that missionaries withdraw from positions of power in various localities and from positions where they controlled activities to the natives and let the natives take the responsibility and secure training and experience.

Another suggestion of the committee, Dr. Eddy said, was that evangelistic work of missionaries be separated from educational activities; medical aid and help. It was the committee's opinion that evangelistic work should be carried on its own basis and that the other activities likewise be separate work.

Less support for native churches after organization also was suggested, the thought being that the churches should be made self supporting. Over-emphasis of demonical differences also was discussed by Dr. Eddy from the stand point of the committee report. The natives have no desire to become involved in the disputes and only by forgetting them can missionary work succeed.

William Wilharm Dies at Oshkosh

President of Outagamie Milk and Produce Company Succumbs

William C. Wilharm, 50, president and manager of the Outagamie Milk and Produce company, died at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Mercy hospital at Oshkosh.

A cabbage buyer for the past 15 years, Mr. Wilharm operated a farm in the town of Grand Chute for many years. He was secretary and treasurer of the produce company before taking over the management two years ago. He had been clerk of School District No. 3 for 25 years, and at the time of his death he was president of the Brotherhood of St. John Evangelical Lutheran church. He was a member of the Kiwanis club, the United Commercial Travelers, the Elks lodge, and the South Green-ville grange. He was born in Manitowoc on Sept. 3, 1882, and moved to Appleton with his parents at the age of two years.

Survivors are his wife, mother, Mrs. Mary Wilharm; five sisters, Mrs. A. E. Peterson, Mrs. Clara Babb, Mrs. John Meidam, Mrs. Raymond Mutart, and Mrs. George Barry; and two brothers, John and Joseph C. Wilharm, all of Appleton.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon from the home, route 1, Appleton, with services at 2 o'clock at St. John church. The Rev. W. R. Wetzel will be in charge, and burial will be in Riverside cemetery. Friends may call at the home from Sunday noon until the time of the funeral.

Winter Weather on Menu for Weekend

King Winter is due to pay Appleton and vicinity a visit over the weekend, according to the weather man.

His forecast reads as follows: "Unsettled, rain turning to snow tonight and probably in east portion Sunday morning; colder in northwest portion tonight; much colder Sunday."

Similar predictions have been forecast over most of the midwest for the next 24 hours. Winds are shifting in the north and northwest, a good indication that colder weather is on the way.

At 6 o'clock Saturday morning the mercury registered 34 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 45 degrees above.

Versteegen had been visiting with Mr. Mangan and was backing out the driveway at the home on W. Elsie-st when the boy crossed the driveway in the rear of the car.

Fix Pay Cuts for Police, Firemen

Men to Donate Part of Salaries and Take 10-15 Per Cent Decreases

Appleton police and firemen will donate from 10 to 15 per cent of their salaries from Jan. 1 to May 1, 1933, and on May 1 will take a 10 to 15 per cent reduction in salaries, it was decided by the police and fire commission following a meeting with the police and firemen Thursday evening. The plan will be announced to the mayor and common council in a resolution formulated by the commission.

While reluctant to upset a wage scale that has been built up over a long period of years, the commission, after weeks of conferring with Appleton citizens, realized that the public demand for salary reductions is almost unanimous, it declared. Because a salary reduction will affect the amount of pension to be received by the employees, the commission put the cut on a donation basis until May so any police or firemen who wish to retire while the old salary schedule is in effect may do so. There are several members of the fire department who are eligible for pension, and they are to be given the privilege of retiring at the present salary or of continuing their work at reduced pay.

Red Threat in China Growing, Koo Declares

Foundations of Social Organization Menaced By Communists

Washington.—(AP)—Communism's ravages in China have been so devastating that Dr. Wellington Koo believes the Communist menace may threaten the foundations of China's social organization if a prompt remedy cannot be found.

In memoranda prepared for the Lytton commission, and now published here, Koo, representing China at Geneva, quoted nationalist government reports for authority that 186,000 persons had been massacred by Communists in Kiangsi province alone prior to May 5, 1931.

In all 2,100,000 persons had been compelled to flee to non-Sovietized areas, 100,000 houses had been burned and property valued at $630,000,000 had been destroyed, Koo asserted, adding that official reports within the last six months from Kiangsi which is about 300 miles west of Shanghai, showed that half a million persons were still refugees in non-Sovietized parts of the province.

Koo said that the Communist organization, which has its own armies, has applied agrarian reforms with a vengeance. Temple lands and the property of the gentry have been confiscated liberally with deeds burned, all boundary marks obliterated and the land apportioned among the able-bodied inhabitants without discrimination.

Honan province is another district which Koo pictured as a heavy sufferer from Communist activities. There 72,000 persons have been massacred, 120,000 houses burned, and property valued by the nationalist government at $300,000,000 destroyed.

Koo's report said the Chinese is individualistic and his common sense makes him hate Communism, but that "Communism remains a serious danger in China because it has threatened them during one of those crises of social and political evolution which always leaves a nation in a state of temporary weakness.

A just solution of the Manchurian dispute was urged by Koo as necessary to give the Nanjing government a free hand in its effort to stamp out the orientation toward Moscow by eliminating Communist influence in Chinese territory which is now sovietized.

Pasture Yield Continues Drop

Farmers Find They No Longer Can Rely on Permanent Crop

By W. F. Winsey

As a result of their experience of the past 10 years, farmers in this section of Wisconsin have reached the conclusion that if they are to remain in the dairy industry they can depend no longer on permanent pastures for their spring, summer, and fall dairy feeds.

Gradually since the timber was removed by the early settlers, the product of these pastures has been decreasing until the present crisis when they are supplying adequate feed for not much beyond a month in the spring.

The explanation given by farmers and county agents for the decreasing yields is that the original supply of plant food in the soil has been gradually decreasing from year to year and is now practically exhausted. A second reason is erosion and the wash on rolling lands.

In the southern states in which the soil has been depleted through the years by pasture, crops and washing, the land owners are restoring the fertility and stopping the wash through permanent crops of sweet clover. In the most seriously depleted fields, the sweet clover is not harvested nor pastured but is made permanent by self seeding from year to year. This plan not only serves the intended purpose but it also gives the hill-sides an exceedingly luxuriant, thrifty appearance.

Local farmers, owing hill-sides that are producing little or no pasture or hay may cover these possessions with sweet clover and in that way prevent farther washing, restore the fertility of the soil, and reach the maximum of hay and pasture production. The sweet clover will also fit the soil for alfalfa.

Offer Sewage Plant Operation Course

Madison.—(AP)—Improvement in the technique of operating sewage treatment plants serving more than 100 Wisconsin municipalities will be sought at a course to be given at the University of Wisconsin, Jan. 9 to 14 under the sponsorship of the university and the state board of health.

An innovation in the state sanitary engineering, the course will be limited to an enrollment of 20 members to assure adequate individual instruction for plant operators, the board said.

In addition to lectures and discussions, the course will include five laboratory periods in which various sewage tests will be studied. Lectures will be delivered by L. F. Warrick, state sanitary engineer; L. H. Kessler, assistant professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering; M. Starr Nichols, chief chemist state laboratory of hygiene; E. J. Beatty, assistant sanitary engineer, state board of health, and F. M. Dawson, professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering.

"Afraid to Talk" Adopted From Successful Broadway Play

With Manager Somer's announcement of the booking of Universal's "Afraid to Talk" to play at the Appleton Theatre soon, Appleton is assured of an early showing of this widely heralded film said to present the most revealing expose of a phase of the life of our great city ever screened.

This unusual timely screen drama is laid in a great American city. A hotel bell boy is its victim and its hero. He is married. He is young, hopeful, full of the joy of life and planning ahead for his young and too pretty wife. Suddenly he is clutched in the vise-like coils of a system that is the despair of most great cities. He is innocent, but he is a midge compared with the thing that has him in its grasp.

But the power of his captor lies in the power to make men silent. They are all afraid to talk. Suddenly this badgered and beaten bell boy finds his tongue. With his wife a prey to untold dangers, he rises to tremendous heights of heroism and fights back with the only weapon at his command in a drama of remarkable intensity.

She started her motion picture career at the age of fourteen and won distinction before she was sixteen. Now, at nineteen, she has achieved stellar rating.

The part played by Loretta Young in "They Call It Sin" is claimed to represent the peak of her acting career. It is filled with strong dramatic situations and gripping sequences in a setting of New York life behind the scenes of the musical show world and the smart set. The story is of a young girl loved by two men desired by a third but whose emotions are torn by her love for a married man and her desire to comply with the conventions.

All-Star Cast in Brand New Picture

Gary Cooper, George Raft, Wynne Gibson in Leading Roles

A dozen and a half movie stars, each playing the type of role in which he won original screen fame, combine talents in "If I Had a Million," drama boasting the largest all-star cast ever assembled. The picture comes to the Appleton theatre tonight at 11 o'clock.

Gary Cooper, again is seen in uniform. He was an aviator—both American and foreign in "Wings," "Legion of the Condemned" and "Lilac Time."

Once more George Raft is "without the law." Wynne Gibson, rapidly becoming Hollywood's foremost actress of "hard-boiled" roles, appears as a waterfront "dame." Her role is similar yet widely different from such kindred roles as she had in "Night After Night," "Lady and Gent," "Two Kinds of Women," "The Gang Buster" and "City Streets."

Charlie Ruggles, specialist in "hippy" men, varied his performance to portray a hen-pecked fellow in "The Night of June 13" and again suffers this ignominy in "If I Had a Million." Again he is dominated by Mary Boland, who did so in "The Night of June 13."

Alison Skipworth has a varied form of harum-scarum comedy after winning success in comedy character parts in "Madame Racketeer" and "Night After Night."

Jack Oakie, W. C. Fields, Mary Boland, Roscoe Karns, Lucien Littlefield, Richard Bennett, Gene Raymond, Frances Dee, Charles Laughton and May Robson are other members of the all star cast.

The picture centers around Bennett, an eccentric millionaire, who distributes his fortune among nine people whose names he has selected at random from a city directory. Comedy, tragedy, irony and romance develop as each of the nine reacts to sudden wealth in his own fashion.

Tom Mix Appears in First Talking Film

At last—Tom Mix in his first talking picture!

The greatest of all the Western stars is coming back in one of the most romantically exciting cowboy picture ever screened. He is bringing with him Tony, his famed horse, and a fine cast in a real Western film—beautiful Claudia Dell, Earle Foxe, Stanley Fields and hilarious Zasu Pitts.

What more could Universal inject into one motion picture to make it the best romantic thriller of the year?

The red-letter title is "Destry Rides Again" and it makes its auspicious appearance on the Elite Theatre screen today and Sunday. The story, based upon the popular Max Brand best-seller of the same name, is that of a hard-riding, quick-triggered cowboy who is railroaded to prison by a group of cowtown politicians who attempt to get him out of the way during the coming election for sheriff. You should see Mix's dust when he emerges from the bars to square things with the men who did him wrong!

All the action and romance you could desire—packed in one movie! An evening of top-notch entertainment for the whole family.

THEY'RE ALL IN THE "DOUGH"

Wynne Gibson, hard-boiled cafe hostess, one of the recipients of $1,000,000 in "If I Had a Million," Paramount's fifteen-star attraction, coming to the Appleton Theatre tonight at 11. Around her, reading from left to right, are Richard Bennett, who plays the role of the eccentric millionaire; and W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, George Raft, Gary Cooper, Jack Oakie, Mary Boland, Charlie Ruggles and Charles Laughton, all of whom get the checks which Bennett distributes.

Beauty Title Winner Will Appear at Fox

Miss Caroline Schulke, popular singer and a winner of the beauty title, "Miss Wisconsin," will appear at the Fox theatre Sunday in a stage and organ novelty. Miss Schulke has appeared in stage performances at the Wisconsin theatre in Milwaukee.

Miss Schulke may be termed in the words of the sports writers, a triple threat girl of the stage, having not only an exceptionally pleasing voice, but likewise possessing those two qualities so necessary to success on the stage, beauty and personality.

Clara Bow Makes Screen Comeback

Former "It" Girl Appears in Call Her Savage" At Fox

Clara Bow returns to the screen at the Fox Theatre, on Monday when "Call Her Savage" opens a three-day engagement. As the heroine of Tiffany Thayer's dramatic story, a role which she herself selected, the famous redhead is said to portray a life nearly paralleling her own hectic career. It is the fight waged by a misunderstood girl to curb the conflict of desires which rage inside her extraordinary intense heart.

In both screen adaptation by Edwin Burke and the star's interpretation of the title role, "Call Her Savage," has been hailed as the most courageous portrait of a woman's soul yet screened.

As the half-breed sweetheart to whom she turns when society has failed her, Gilbert Roland heads the supporting cast. Others featured include Thelma Todd, as her honey-haired rival; Monroe Owsley her weak-willed husband; Willard Robertson, as her stern parent; Estelle Taylor as her indiscreet mother; Anthony Jovitti, as a wealthy suitor; Weldon Heyburn as her mother's lover, and many others.

John Francis Dillon directed "Call Her Savage."

Fox Theatre to Show "Air Mail"

It's First Screen Play to Dramatize Romantic Flying Fleet

Charles A. Lindbergh, "Casey" Jones, Phil Love, Bud Gurney are some of the nation's aviation heroes who graduated from the ranks of the intrepid government air mail service, whose thrilling and romantic story has been screened by Universal in its drama, "Air Mail," coming to the Fox Theatre, Appleton, Sunday, Dec. 4th.

The early aces who blazed the way across the continent and tested the air lines at the risk of their own lives are mostly all gone, many of them having crashed in the perilous flights, while others have retired to less hazardous pursuits. Only a handful remain in active duty, among them Hamilton Lee, Bud Williams, Jack Knight and Ray Little.

The crop of younger pilots who have taken up the trust of putting through the mail fly under less dangerous conditions than did the pioneers, but the rigorous mail schedule makes mail flying hazardous at best.

Ralph Bellamy, Pat O'Brien, Fessell Honton, Slim Summerville, Gloria Stuart, and Lillian Bond enact the feature roles in "Air Mail," the first screen play to dramatize this little known but romantic flying fleet.

girls who graduate from poverty in the tenements to the extravagance and luxury of Park Avenue. They are the closest of chums and the bitterest of rivals, yet both seek to sacrifice their hearts when it comes to the love of the same man.

Included in the glimpses of the New York scenes which this production presents are various phases of Manhattan "high life," backstage of the Follies, parties abroad, palatial yachts and Park Avenue apartments and, by way of contrast, the noise and squalor of the New York tenement districts.

FOREIGN PULP AND NEWSPAPERS.

Wisconsin faces the menace of foreign pulp hurdling the tariff wall because of depreciated foreign currencies.

This is a test, and in more than one direction, of a controversial matter that has held the spotlight in congress, off and on for over 20 years—the Tariff Commission.

Mr. Hoover supported this Commission and sought to give it the right to alter tariffs, after public hearings and with the approval of the President. It was however given no authority to act concerning articles on the so-called "free list" which includes pulp.

The flood of this pulp now entering America is proof of the need of such a Commission to quickly alter tariffs when altered conditions in the world have disturbed the basis upon which they were figured, in order to prevent collapse of some American industry, which might take place before congress could meet or act. The limitation upon the powers of the tariff commission was an unfortunate one, and the more so when congress had been warned for at least a year that depreciated currencies abroad were providing the ladder with which to scale the American tariff wall.

At a recent meeting of paper manufacturers where this calamitous situation was exposed, some present thought they could get little help from newspapers because the latter would be benefited by cheap pulp in the ability to buy cheaper paper.

They never made a greater blunder. A newspaper is an industry. Like every business institution its purchasing department seeks to buy supplies under as advantageous circumstances as the market affords. That is natural and normal.

In its relation to the public however every newspaper must deplore the existence of prevailing conditions in the pulp industry.

Shortsighted indeed is the journalist who cannot vision something more important to the world than an aid or an injury to his own business. And stone blind is he who cannot understand the ultimate harm to himself, to everyone of us in fact, from any extensive injury to our industries.

We cannot vision anything much more to be desired in Wisconsin today than a stabilization of dairy products and paper at prices reasonably profitable to those actively engaged in these extensive callings.

Fortunately we are upon the eve of a congressional session. Certainly congress will not permit a continuation of the pulp supplies to America made possible by the factor mentioned. It is not necessary to create tariffs or to raise them. It is only necessary to equalize conditions caused by the great difference in the value of national currencies to the end that American labor and the stockholders in American industries shall not be weighted with a great disadvantage.

HAIL THE GRAMMARIANS

What blessed news in this that comes from the National Council of Teachers recently assembled in convention at Memphis, Tenn.? Nothing less than the sanctioning by leading educators of sentences ending with a preposition or beginning with "and" or "but."

The King of Rome who accounted himself as above grammar when accused by a prelate of abusing it, no doubt exulted in his power but all of his legions could not have saved him from what has been considered as the grossest of grammatical sins, had he lived in these days when there are so many prepositions to bother WITH.

AND to think of all the time wasted by writers in amazing gymnastics of sentence construction to avoid ending a sentence with the deadly preposition which so often persists in tail-ending the idea it applies TO.

BUT the educators, in permitting the prepositions and conjunctions to wander about with great freedom in their parsing, are saving writers a peck of trouble. Could they now do as much for the nouns, verbs and participles, it would be a consummation devoutly approved. O.P.

FAMINE THREATENS RUSSIA

What is happening to Russian communism, that grandiose experiment for the uplift of mankind? On the fifteenth anniversary of the revolution and coincident with the official completion of the Five Year Plan, Russia faces a winter of serious food shortage, which may readily develop into famine.

There is now no attempt to conceal the actual situation. Mr. Walter Duranty, Moscow correspondent of the New York Times, makes public the ominous facts. The Soviet government takes no pains to deny these reports, probably because it can no longer keep this knowledge from the world.

Granted that fifteen years is a pitifully short period in which to build a socialistic state among 150,000,000 people; granted also that the Five Year plan was a gigantic task requiring the superlative in human achievement to bring it to successful issue, the inescapable truth is that in this nation of unlimited agricultural resources there exists the menace of famine.

This food shortage is not due to crop failures, droughts or other natural causes. Rather it is the direct result of the Five Year Plan and the methods employed in putting it through. More than that, the situation is the outgrowth of a attempt to put into practice one of the essential principles of communism itself—the collectivization of Russian peasants and farm lands.

The Five Year Plan has succeeded beyond expectations in this respect. It had originally been predicted that by the end of 1933 one-third of all the Russian peasants would be in collectivized farms. Actually there are now collectivized two-thirds of the peasants and four-fifths of the land.

What then has happened to cause this communistic theory to fail in its purpose, which was the production of bountiful food supplies with exportable surpluses?

The answer is that the nationalization of farm property and labor has destroyed all individual incentive to progress. Russian peasants, rather than accept the glamorous promises of collectivization, so often carried out by campaigns of terrorism, have destroyed their live stock. The supply of farm animals is between 40 and 50 per cent of what it was five years ago. Domestic animals to the extent of 78,000,000 or one-third the total live stock wealth of the nation, have been slaughtered, rather than surrender them to the state. Sabotage within the collectives has held up production, adding to the debacle.

Plans for the mechanization of means for agricultural production have fallen woefully short. The Five Year Plan has produced by purchase or manufacture 1,800,000 tractor horsepower but has also destroyed 10,000,000 horses, now no longer available for plowing.

Here is communism in the raw, blessed with unlimited opportunities for its practical application, now faced with the least excusable failure—starvation and famine in a land of almost unlimited natural resources for the production of food.

THE GLORY AND POVERTY OF WAR

A bold face, a determined or even reckless manner, are often put on in the face of disaster.

The historian tells that when the army of Hannibal was hammering at the gates of Rome, the Roman senate determined to hold a public auction and offer for sale to the highest bidder the ground outside the city. The very ground on which Hannibal's army was then encamped. Here was a defiant gesture, than which there are few to compare, and the people who made it were assuredly entitled to something more than a threadbare existence.

Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, declared that the speech of Garibaldi the Italian liberator, to his men, was one of the most glorious speeches ever made. Garibaldi said:

"Soldiers, what I have to offer you is fatigue, danger, struggle and death; the chill of the cold night in the free air, and heat under the burning sun; no lodgings, no munitions; no provisions, but forced marches, dangerous watchposts and the continual struggle with the bayonet against batteries; those who love freedom and their country may follow me."

What leader! How could he fail of success?

And yet the pity of it is that, so continually has Italy been ravaged by warfare, so constantly has it spent its accumulations in property as well as in manpower, desperately and extravagantly, upon the field of battle, that, although nearly the first of modern nations to emerge from the darkness of barbarity, its people are not alone loaded with debt, as is the rest of the world, but they have never been able to accumulate above the price of their wars what others have accumulated.

Today a great many of the public utilities, the best investments in Italy, are owned by English, Belgian and Swiss syndicates.

Yet armories are still built in the world, the keels of battleships laid, rifles and explosives manufactured, and immense armies of men trained to use these instruments upon each other.

CONTRACT AND CRIBBAGE

This game of contract bridge it seems is taught by various schools. Which now and then re-write the books and tinker with the rules. So unto cribbage I'll return—a game my dad taught me.

A count of fifteen still pegs two and a single run is three. When auction was the game we played I thought my labors 'er When I had learned the values of the suits and how to score, But just as I could settle down with peace of mind to play The game of contract bridge began and auction went away.

Again I labored day by day and week by week to learn The cost of every undertrick; what overtricks will earn. Now once again the rules are changed and altered is the score, But cribbage hasn't varied in three hundred years years or more.

I played it just the other day with a good old friend of mine. A double run still gave me eight and one for His Nob was nine. A count of fifteen gave me two, for a run I still pegged three With one for "the go," which is just the score my father taught to me. (Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

Personal Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE UNCONSIDERED SOURCE OF INFECTION

A correspondent says she was calling on a friend who has pulmonary tuberculosis. Her friend asked for her telephone number. The visitor wanted to write the telephone number on a card. The invalid handed her a pencil. Without thinking of what she was doing the visitor put the point of the pencil upon her lips or tongue to moisten it. Now she is alarmed and wishes to know what precaution she can take to prevent infection. Too late! Too late! If the lady is destined to contract tuberculosis from her sick friend the infection probably occurred while she was chatting with the patient and before she used the pencil at all. Of course it is possible that the patient had just moistened the tip of the pencil with her saliva, and if her tuberculosis is active, some bacilli may have been deposited on the pencil tip. But even if a transfer of tubercle bacilli were accomplished in this indirect way, it is highly improbable that they can gain a foothold in the body of the visitor. Even a few moments of exposure of the tubercle bacilli to the baneful effects (to them) of dryness, daylight and the comparatively low room temperature (which is far below what tubercle bacilli are accustomed to and require if they are to thrive), renders the germs innocuous if it does not kill them.

Assuming the patient has active tuberculosis (and therefore tubercle bacilli are being given off in the sputum), if a visitor stands or sits within five feet the visitor is being sprayed with a spray of moisture or mucus droplets, most of them invisibly minute, some of them perhaps containing tubercle bacilli, all the while the patient chats with her. That is the usual mode of infection with any or all respiratory infections, I believe.

The public has been fairly well educated about the danger of the spray of coughing or sneezing, but I contend that the health authorities subordinated public welfare to their own popularity or their reluctance to offend some prudish dictate of good taste. At any rate they have remained silent about the danger of conversational spray, and there can be no reasonable question that this is quite as dangerous as cough or sneeze spray is, the only difference being that conversational spray has a range of five feet or less, while cough or sneeze spray has a range of 10 to 12 feet.

Among intelligent or polite people open face coughing or sneezing is no less unpardonable as is spitting on the floor. Still there are plenty of bors who do not hesitate to cough or sneeze on the back of the neck of the person just ahead in church, in the theater or in the public gatherings.

It is the consensus of medical opinion, I think, that single isolated infections, such as the lady must have suffered by the bad habit of moistening the pencil with tongue or lips, do not produce tuberculosis. It is necessary that the infection be frequently repeated over a period of time, as by chumming with one who has the disease.

Now, back to hard facts and harsh light. Nothing hurts the night's business in one of those air tight hot spots much more than the sound of a fist against a face. Lots of patrons of such places recall unpleasant massacres of the past, when encounters led to gunplay and poor shots plucked innocent bystanders. They take no chances; duck out at the first rumble of trouble and don't let the unsettled check detain them.

In fact, the attention of all the hired hands focussed on the brawl, they welcome the chance to leave the check in the waiter's pocket.

The School "System"

Editor Post-Crescent—In your issue of November 30th, appeared an article setting forth a meeting held by our city council and the school board regarding contemplated salary reductions of our teachers and in this article it was noted that several members of the Board stated that the "Public" was against or not especially in favor of adjustments being made. Now, venture to say that there are not twenty-five people in Appleton, not directly connected with our schools or city government, who are well enough informed to "speak" of the amounts being paid in the various departments of our schools. Why not have our local paper publish a list of the salaries paid at the present time, from top to bottom, then we can all form our opinions with some degree of intelligence and it will put the question "On the Spot," so to speak and let us know where our money's going and in what amounts.

Now, let's look at the "System". Our friend and alderman from the Sixth ward, hung up a bulls-eye when he stated that the system covered a lot of everything and not much of anything. During the four years in which my daughter attended the Appleton high school, I do not believe there was a week went by that I was not digging down for something in connection with school affairs. I've paid for everything from Arctic Lectures down to "Bringing Up Baby," all supposed to be necessary in rounding out a perfect education. Broadening the perspective, I believe they called it at the time.

Another thing which might deserve a little observation, is the continual changing of books. The same noble lines of knowledge contained in Henry's History or Short-Hand manual, simply will not fit in Mary's head who happens to be following along a few months later. Even the scratch-pads won't dovetail with the "System" unless they come from a certain stationery house.

It's all these things, together with high taxes which makes this business of educating expensive and a few changes along this line would assist greatly in enabling a poor man to furnish an education for his children.

Respectfully submitted,
A Sixth Warder.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

THE mountain goat walked cautiously and was as careful as could be. "It surely is sure-footed," exclaimed Scouty, with a smile.

"If we keep moving on I guess that we'll soon be out of this mess. The bottom of the mountain doesn't look more than a mile."

"That's where you're wrong," said Windy. "Say, I've often traveled round this way and distance really foos you. It is more like three miles, son."

"But, if we can hang on tight. I think that things will turn out right. Course, in the meantime, traveling like this is far from fun."

It wasn't long until the goat brought lumps to every Tyn's throat. It walked near to a spot where all the bunch could gaze below.

The goat's foot slipped a little bit, which might have been the end of it. Another foot, though, stopped the goat. "Twas said it traveled slow."

Soon Duncy said, "I see some smoke. If we reach that 'twill make us choke. Just look! It's right ahead of us. The goat seem frightened, too."

"Let's, urge it on until we know if it is really safe to go on down the mountain side. I know not what else we can do."

The goat obeyed his kind command. Then, shortly, scouty raised his hand and said, "It's a volcano. It's erupting, sure enough!"

"We'll walk up close so we can see a sight that's very strange to me. It is safe, I'd love to watch the smoke rise, puff by puff."

They hopped off of the goat all right. The beast then ran with all its might. "Come back here," shouted Coppy. We will leave here, if you will."

The goat, however, disappeared and Scouty said, "That's what I feared. We never should have stopped here just to get a little thrill." (Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

Board Urges Legislature to Cut Expenses

Resolution Presented by L. W. Kezertee of Oshkosh Is Adopted

Neenah—A resolution adopted by the Winnebago-co board at Oshkosh this week, urging assemblymen and state senators to do everything in their power to curtail state expenditures and suggesting ways in which state boards may be controlled and regulated to accomplish a saving of taxpayers' money, has received considerable favorable comment.

The resolution was presented to the board by L. W. Kezertee of Oshkosh and stated:

"Be it resolved by this board that the state senator and assemblymen from this county be requested to do all in their power to reduce the expenses of the state boards and commissions; that it is the sense of this board that the industrial board regarding the regulations that control the erection or changing of buildings and that their duties in that regard should be confined to drawing up what they consider proper regulations, and the cities, towns and villages be allowed to adopt all or whatever part of these regulations they think applies to their community, and the enforcement be left with the local authorities instead of the state; that the power of the public service commission to regulate municipal-owned water works or other utilities shall be done away with so that each locality can operate its public utilities as it sees fit to do, and that a larger percentage of tax money sent to Madison be returned to the community paying the tax, and in every way do all they can to restore to the local communities the power to regulate their own affairs; and that the cost of running the university be reduced by charging a tuition to students from outside the state equal to the cost per student for the operation of the university, thereby saving the taxpayers of this state over $1,000,000 a year; and that the county clerk be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the state senator and each assemblyman from this county."

St. Mary Quintet Beats Marinette Cagers, 29 to 8

Menasha Five Scores Almost at Will in Season's Opening Game

Menasha—Scoring at will, the St. Mary high school basketball team swamped St. Joseph's of Marinette, 29 to 8 in the opening game of Fox River Valley Catholic high school conference competition in St. Mary gymnasium here Friday evening. The St. Mary first string piled up a 21 to 4 advantage in the first half and was replaced at the opening of the final period by the entire second team.

The Marinette quint, playing its first game in the Catholic high school league, was unable to penetrate the St. Mary defense and apparently was bewildered by the Menasha quint's fast moving attack. Before the end of the first quarter the visitors were trailing on the short end of a 15 to 2 count.

Rieschl, one of the two veterans of last year's varsity on the St. Mary squad, was working in his regular position at center and although he played for only three quarters, he led the Menasha attack with seven field goals and one free throw for a total of 15 points. Rippl, a new forward, took second scoring honors with three field goals.

Coopman Shows Well
Coopman, the other letter man on Coach Dilts' squad, scored the first basket of the game, was credited with a free throw in the second period, and working at right guard, repeatedly checked the visitors' tries at the hoop.

Leannoh, starting at right guard and shifting to center later in the game, was the only Marinette threat and scored the visitors' only two baskets.

Three baskets by Rieschl, two by Rippl, another by Bevers, and a bucket and free toss by Coopman gave the St. Mary cagers their 15 points in the opening quarter, and the lead never was threatened during the remainder of the game. At the end of the third period, with the score 27 to 4, Coach Dilts sent in his entire second string to finish the battle.

Rieschl at Center
Dilts started Rieschl in the pivot position with Bevers and Rippl at forwards, and Coopman and E. Muntnar at guards. The same lineup probably will start against St. John's of Little Chute in a conference battle here next Friday evening that promises to be one of the hardest fought games on the Menasha team's schedule.

Appleton Men Admit Disorderly Conduct

Neenah—Three Appleton men, Rogers Ashman, Robert Ashman and Clem Kitchener, pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct when arraigned in the court of Justice Chris Jensen here Saturday morning and each was fined $5 and costs.

Kitchener and Robert Ashman were in a car on which five Christmas trees were piled, police stated today. Believing that the trees were taken from in front of business places on Commercial-st the police pursued the car and stopped the two men on Forest-ave shortly before 3 o'clock Saturday morning. Rogers Ashman, it was stated, drove up in another machine, objected to his brother's arrest, and was taken to the police station with the first two men.

The defendants denied that they had taken the trees from Commercial-st and said that another party had piled the trees on their car at a dance hall. They agreed, however, to replace the trees on Commercial-st.

Police Deny Rumors Of Kidnaping Attempt

Menasha—Wild rumors that an unidentified man had attempted to kidnap a youngster attending the Butte des Moris grade school Friday were branded as groundless by Menasha police today.

According to reports, the story started when a man drove up to the curb and spoke to a small boy on his way to school. Other youngsters nearby said something about "kidnaping" and the story was under way. The boy to whom the man spoke, not at all alarmed, revealed that he was merely asking the location of Second-st.

Early in the afternoon a small girl came into the school house crying and telling a story about a "man in a car." Police were called and questioning the child, found that "the man" neither pursued nor spoke to the girl and that the real reason for the tears was that she had been bumped by a small boy on the way to school.

Oil Aids Growth of Eyelashes

BY ELSIE PIERCE
A. B. C., Toronto: (1) To lengthen and gradually darken the eyelashes, use either odorless castor oil, pure olive oil, vaseline or one percent yellow oxide of mercury. Brush the oil or jelly on the under part of the lashes, being careful not to get the preparation into the eyes. All of these are harmless, of course, but any foreign substance getting into the eyes will cause them to smart.
(2) Bending and stretching exercises are indeed fine for reducing the abdomen and waist. If you wish special exercises for various parts of the body, a self-addressed and stamped envelope will bring you a complete-reducing regime. (Including a new reducing diet) to you.

Wondering: Abnormally red hands may be caused by poor circulation. Deep breathing exercises before an open window, and as much as possible in the fresh air, will help. And try the following exercises: Relax the hands completely, hold arms at shoulder level and shake hands for several minutes, letting the fingers flap. Holding the hands in the various positions (at sides, shoulder level, over head, etc.) clench the fingers into a fist, then thrust open and spread fingers out and back as far as possible. Wiggle the fingers as in imaginary piano playing. Massage the hands every evening with a little warm olive oil, using a firm, rotary motion. Equal parts of glycerin and rose water may be used as a soothing and softening hand lotion. (3) Massage the brows with a little zinc oxide salve before plucking. Each hair should be plucked separately and the tweezers held at the same angle and in the same direction as the hair grows. Touch with a little witch hazel or alcohol after plucking.

Hazel Eyes: (a) Dry lips should be massaged lightly with a nourishing cream and a light film of cream left on while sleeping. Always smooth a little cream over the lips before applying lip paste and be sure that your lip paste is not too hard, but of a soft, creamy consistency. (b) To eradicate lines under the eyes, pat very gently with a wrinkle oil made of equal parts of pure olive oil and odorless castor oil to which a few drops of tincture of benzoin and a few drops of perfume have been added. A very little of the oil may be left on overnight. Sorry—I cannot mention the name of proprietary articles.

A. B. Iowa: Epsom salts baths may help reduce your weight, as when taken very hot, they induce sweating. This method is not to be advised, however, as continued baths might tend to over-stimulate the heart. Then, too, the loss of weight can only be temporary at best, unless combined with faithful diet and regular exercise. If my complete reducing regime interests you, send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"
If December 4th is your birthday, the best time for you in this date range from 3 p. m. to 5:15 p. m. and from 10:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 6:45 p. m.

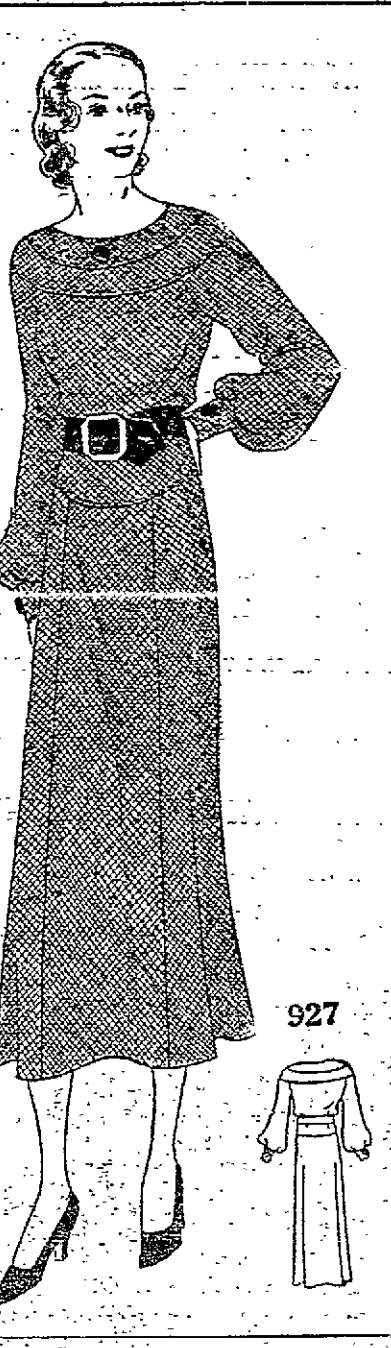

If you are fighting with your back to the wall and do not know which way to turn, you will probably find the answer to your problem on this December 4th. You may get only a faint glimmer of the course to pursue, but do not hesitate to embark upon it and you will find it will lead to perfection. If you have a very hunchy, it may be to your advantage to play them. If the odds ever favor one who gambles, they would seem to lean your way on this day. This applies to gambling of all kinds but not to love.
Born on this December 4th, the child will show at an early age unusual artistic talents. It will begin to draw and will show great aptitude in painting. It will have a good ear for music. It will receive a lot of love and favor books of the fantastic and highly imaginative kind. Not a very friendly or loving little one.

If December 4th is your birthday you are very discriminating in your choice of friends. You look on friendship in a very matter of fact way and it is your feeling for what they have to offer in the way of benefit to you. You are not selfish in this, but you think well of yourself and feel that you have a great deal to offer to others. You judge people very severely before accepting them as friends.
You are probably an outstanding business or professional man. If you can "swing it" you are in business for yourself. It is difficult for you to subordinate yourself to the will and commands of others. You prefer to lead, and you have the qualities that make for leadership. You are most considerate of all people, and enjoy making them happy and comfortable.
The women born on December 4th take their places in society with grace and ease. They seek pleasures of the finer type. They embody all the qualities that are requisite to making ideal sweethearts, wives, and mothers. They derive much pleasure from their homes and from caring for them.

Successful People Born on December 4th:
1—William W. Loring, soldier.
2—John L. Conte, physicist and educator.
3—Charles F. Deems, clergyman.
4—Lillian Russell, actress.
5—Thomas Carlyle, author.
6—Frank Jay Gould, capitalist.

Fake Bid Makes Small Slam Contract Possible

BY ELY CULBERTSON
Although the caliber of play at Bridge throughout the country is always improving, clever bidders can still put something over on less astute opponents. On the accompanying hand, the South player made a bid which should not possibly fool good opponents, but in this case, to quote my friend who sent in the hand, "East was a lady who will never lead the suit that the opponents bid."
Neither side vulnerable.

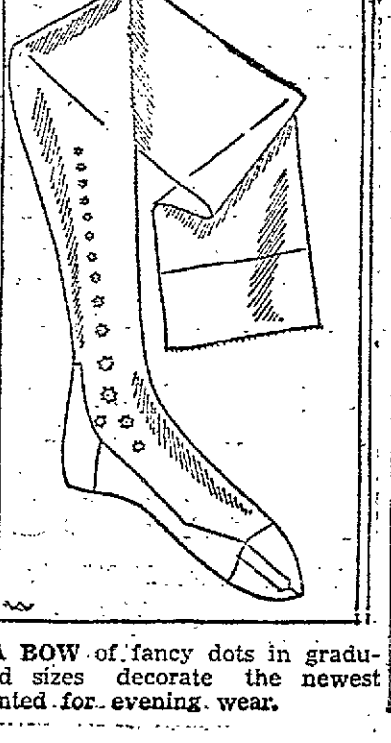

Hand diagram showing cards: ♠ 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, J, Q, K; ♥ 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, J, Q, K; ♦ 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, J, Q, K; ♣ 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, J, Q, K.

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)
South West North East
1♠ Pass 1♥ Pass
2♠(1) Pass 3♥ Pass
5♥(2) Pass 6♥(3) Pass
Pass Pass

1—This is an old trick, originated by leading tournament stars some years ago. South bids two spades, realizing that a Slam can probably be made at hearts if spades are not opened.
2—Confident that the foundation has been soundly built, South now asks his partner to bid a Slam on any slight additional values.
3—North responds on the basis of the diamond Queen, as he knows that South's diamond suit will probably afford the necessary discards.

On the play of the hand East opened a club, and after the trumps were drawn, the diamond suit afforded two discards of North's losing spades, and seven odd were made. Obviously a spade lead would have set the Slam contract. Of course, it is quite possible that even without South's two spade bid, East might not have opened the spade. At any rate, South knew his opponent and took the canigre plant, which grows wild in Arizona, and which is excellent for tanning high grade leathers.

Clear Vision Needed by Parents to Help Child

BY ANGELO PATRI
Those who would help children must have clear vision. They must see the child truly. Now there is none among us so wise as to know the truth about a child. None of us has the true vision that sees the truth. The most of any of us can expect to see is a glimpse of the spirit that is the child. That suggests the rest, and we according to our wisdom, must fill in the rest.

It is said that so many well meaning teachers and supervisors cultivate a warped vision of childhood. They are so intent upon redeeming the child from his errors that they fix their vision on that point and see nothing else. The child becomes a child of sin, a thorn in the flesh, a creature to be punished, corrected, re-created in our own image. And that is not vision, but blindness for the child and good is set over rightness. We who would help him must believe that, see that, before we can be of the least service.

Have you not known the teacher who all day long kept saying, "How many had you wrong?" and when informed of the enormity of the error, shook her head and wrote down a failure in red ink? Have you not known the supervisor who examined a class to find out what the children did not know? If he finds they know one thing he drops that and goes on searching until he finds the weak spot in their knowledge. Then he dwells there measuring the extent of their ignorance. Have you not known parents who kept reminding the children of the mistakes they had made, reciting all their poor marks, impressively lecturing about their lack of effort, their low aim? It was but yesterday that I heard a parent say to a fine boy, "Yes, I know you have an average over ninety-five. I know you have a hundred in three majors. I know all that. What I want to know is why you couldn't get a high mark in music?"

"You could get an honor mark in every subject of the curriculum if you put your mind to it. I don't want any low grades. Nothing below A is any good. Work up that music!"

Consider that. Do you imagine for a moment that this exacting lady had made such grades in her school days? You know she did not. Had she been as intelligent as all that she would have cultivated a vision that enabled her to see strength where it was, see beauty and power where they were clearly in operation instead of finding the one weak place and dwelling on it.

The right vision sees the effort the child has made; sees the struggle and the triumph, shining through the low rating; see the steady upward growth of the child who is feeling his way through the tangled maze of school lessons and adult standards and queer regulations. The right vision is the one accepted by Johnstone of Vineland, may that man's shadow increase until it blesses every school in this land.

He picked up the paper of a struggling child, one whose mind was shrouded in the mysterious film of feebleness, and said in tones that angels use, "Splendid, Tim. Just splendid. You have three right." Not seven wrong, THREE RIGHT. Cultivate a new vision. See the child RIGHT, and he will come closer to being right day by day.

A BOOK A DAY

God's Angry Man
John Brown was perhaps the strangest character America has produced. He was a combination of murderer, saint and lunatic. He died on a scaffold, and in two years soldiers marched to war singing about him. He needs to be dealt with not so much by historians as by poets.

"God's Angry Man," by Leonard Ehrlich, is a novel built around John Brown's life, and it is an amazingly good one. It picks him up in Kansas, where Brown got the mad idea of killing pro-slavery men as a part of his program to free the slaves. It tells of the wild turmoil of the bloody border fights and shows how the old man developed his plan to invade the southland and set up a state of freed slaves who would be given their just dues by a weird combination of bloody murder and primitive Christianity.

Then it follows the fateful doings which led to the utterly hopeless raid on Harper's Ferry. Mr. Ehrlich turns John Brown into a real human being; he makes him sympathetic, even while you are shaking your head at his folly. The novel's emotional power is tremendous. You FEEL the terror, the pity and the suffering the man's career involved; they become real to you, you live, for the moment, in those dreadful days.

"God's Angry Man" is by all odds the best new novel I have read in two years. It is published by Simon and Schuster.

Department Marks Time On Milk Price Order

Madison—(7)—Advised of reports that several cut-rate Milwaukee dairies will refuse to supply the milk price ordered last Saturday by the state department of markets, Charles L. Hill, chairman of the department, said Ed. E. Smith, who would be taken until these dairies actually pay a price other than that which the department established.

The December price to the farmers as fixed by the state body is $1.60 for fluid or bottled milk and $1 per hundred for surplus.

The Milwaukee dairies usually pay the producers about the 10th of the month. Mr. Hill said the department would wait until the December payments are made before taking any action against dairies which go contrary to its orders.

THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

THE telephone rang again, rang more impatiently, rang madly. Sue, fully awake now, wondered who could be calling and why. Only Ruth and Dale Courtney knew where she and Jack were.

Jack stirred, opened his eyes, mumbled something, turned over, went back to sleep. Then, as the bell sounded again, he was suddenly alert.

"I thought I was dreaming," he explained, reaching for the telephone.

"Hello!" He waited. "Oh, Ruth? Yes, of course it's all right. Sally—she is—"

There was more Sue gathered that Sally had had a relapse. That Ruth had been summoned.

When Jack replaced the receiver he explained.

"It's Sally. She's getting in the mood to do a face-out unless something's done in a hurry. She's given up. No reason at all for her to snap out of the picture now except that she wants to." He was reaching for his clothes as he spoke.

Sue slipped out of bed, too. The drowsiness was gone. She dressed hurriedly, pulling the soft blue woolen frock over the tumbled black of her curls, slipping into the gray pumps, running a comb through her hair and pulling on the soft gray beret that perched impishly on one side of her head.

"Ruth and Dale were starting to the hospital. I said that we would meet them there," Jack explained. He called the desk and asked to have a taxicab summoned while Sue finished dressing.

The hall was quiet. The elevator boy was almost asleep. A scrubwoman moved her pail aside, in the lobby, so they could pass. The whole world seemed sordid, dingy, unkept.

There was nothing of gaiety or charm about it. It didn't even seem a fitting stage for tragedy. Any get, at the hospital, Sally was diving, apparently.

There was a strange darkness in the air of the outside street. Sue slipped her hand into Jack's and he held it tightly. The hospital loomed just ahead. Ruth was waiting for them in the reception room near Sally's room.

"Sally doesn't want to get better. She is letting herself die," she explained. "I've begged and entreated, and so has Joe. It doesn't do any good. There are three doctors in consultation. They say that if she had some incentive, something to live for—some reason for getting better it would be all right. But she hasn't. Everything's gone. There's just a blankness."

Sue paused. Now down was coming, snowed out of the street. Snowflakes drifted with it.

"Suddenly she turned," Sue, is Sally in love with Joe?"

Sue nodded her head. "Very much so."

"I imagine that she was. I think she has been for a long time, but she took him for granted. She thought that he would always be there. And now, she thinks that he's gone."

"But he's been asking her to marry him," Sue talked on. "Of course, he doesn't love her—it's you he cares for—and Sally knows it. What are you going to do, Ruth? What are you thinking about?"

"I have an idea," Ruth answered. "I think Joe will do something for me. Maybe it isn't fair. Her trouble eyes looked into the street where the snow was coming faster and the dark light was eerie and gray as the dawn approached. "No, it isn't fair. But after all, Sally's my sister. And she's sorry. I'll take a chance."

She asked a nurse to call Dr. Raynor.

Champion Beef Sold At 27 Cents a Pound

Chicago—(7)—The champion beef carcass at the International Livestock exposition sold at auction Friday for 27 cents a pound, well above the retail market for prime beef.

Betty Parkman of Toledo, 13 year old 4-H club girl, was paid 20 cents for the record champion carcass. This is her first year in club work. Both were from Aberdeen Angus steers and will go to Chicago hotels. Last year the champion carcass brought 32 cents.

J. Omar Cole of Peru, Ind., a purebred Angus breeder showing here for the first time, won the contest with a purebred steer from leading Angus bloodlines.

The champion lamb carcass brought $1.55 a pound and will go to Belleville, Ill., where it was fed by Helms brothers.

The reserve lamb carcass went for 25 cents a pound and the best 2 swine carcasses were sold for 12 and 10 cents.

600 Applications for Clemency Heard by Phil

Girls Shouldn't Feel to Bad About Not Having Men

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—What can be done about the business girls who are well educated, well dressed, good looking, but who are 30 years of age and have no beaux and do dates, no chance of marrying? They would like to marry and have husbands and homes of their own, but the men of their own age marry younger girls and leave the older ones alone.
AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Answer:
Kissing goes by favor, as the old adage says, and unless a girl has that peculiar something that attracts men to her and unless Fate throws her in contact with marrying men her matrimonial chances are slim.

And there is nothing that can be done about it in a society where the professional matchmaker is not a useful institution, as it is in some countries where it solves the marriage problem less romantically than we do, but at any rate in a way that leaves no old maids.

The plight of the girls who have a natural feminine yearning for the attentions of men and love and romance and marriage, but who are denied these is truly a sad one, and what makes the situation still more pathetic is that they exaggerate their value and the happiness they would bring them. The girl who has no dates pictures every party as a wild orgy of joy. She imagines every man a Fairy Prince and she has never a doubt that if she marries her husband would be an ideal mate and her home an earthly Paradise.

It never seems to occur to these girls that most of the parties are dull, stupid affairs where the guests yawn in each other's faces; that the boy friend is often enough a bore that reduces a girl to tears and that she only goes out with him in the hope of meeting some more entertaining companion; and that on their wedding days most wives do not enter into an Elysium. They get a life sentence at hard work.

If the business girl will look around at her married friends she will see that most of them look older than she does; that few of them are as well dressed or can afford the amusements she has not begun to discover that the man she henpecks because she doesn't respect him. And in the third place you will inevitably come to hate her yourself. No man ever yet loved his jailer.

So my advice to you is to read the Riot Act to the lady. Don't sneak off to see your mother. Go openly and above-board. You know that you should go to night school and improve yourself. Don't consult her about it. Simply put on your hat and go.

And if she passes into the slimes and won't speak to you, just let her sulk. Don't try to win her out of it or make any attempt to cheer her up. If you won't notice it she will quit, because a grouch to be effective needs an audience.

DOROTHY DIX.
Dear Miss Dix—I have an only son not yet 19 who is devotedly fatuated with a girl of 15. I have heard they are planning to marry. What can I do to save my boy from a marriage that he will be sure to regret?
TROUBLED MOTHER.

Answer:
The only thing you can do is to tell him that if he marries he cannot come home with his bride, and that you will not support him. Even a boy 19 will pause before he lets himself in for starvation.

DOROTHY DIX.
Wondering: Any boy who takes a girl to a dance and then ditches her certainly owes her a very explicit explanation, or she should never condescend to see him again. If he goes in the dance hall with her he should see that she is taken care of all evening and not neglect her after the first obligatory dance. Boys who break dates on no good reason are unquestionably rude. Have nothing to do with these ill-mannered males, they aren't worth wasting your time over. It would be better to stay at home and read a good book than to let them hurt you like that.

Luick ICE CREAM

Answer:
Well, you have to decide first whether you are going to be a man or mouse, whether you are going to assert your own independence or meekly submit to being walked over by a pretty domestic tyrant.

If you have as much spunk as a fishing worm, you will get your back up and refuse to be dominated over by your wife. This will not be an easy job because you have let her get the upper hand and install herself as the head of the house. You have let her pre-empt your home and fill it up with her people so that there is no room in it for any of yours. I'll bet you wouldn't dare ask your mother to pay you a visit and your faces would quail under you at the thought of bringing an old friend home to dinner.

There are a lot of men in your fix, son, who are afraid of their wives and who jump every time wife speaks to them. Of course, they are cowards, but I don't know that you can blame them over-much. They get so much

Good Printing Is Recognized Art
Quality of Work Appeals
To Eye First to Obtain Attention

Long time since good printing passed from a mechanical process to an art. It has developed along lines of greatest efficiency, for the printed piece that gets attention and holds it is of value, while the other kind is really only a waste of paper and work. Most of the printed matter has advertising value even an office memorandum. This has been proved over and over.

There are several kinds of advertising. Some of it is of great value; some is valueless; some is worse than none at all. Advertising of value must convey the impression desired, and these impressions are first received through the eye—first the general impression. If that is good, the artistic quality will be appreciated. Then the printed piece has an opportunity to eye-printing. So big concerns do not print artistic catalogs to please their vanity. They have learned that only the good ones pay.

This process of making them pay is finally in the hands of the printer. Good plates, good typography, good paper are all needed, but are useless unless the printer combines them into a good job. That is why some printers succeed so well. They have the ability to turn out this good work. It is also why in this city the Chris Roemer Estate printing plant comes to mind in any thinking of good printing, for in this shop are combined the finest equipment, the artistic sense and the businesslike methods that produce printing which gets results.

Their plant at 119 S. Appleton is worth a visit, if for nothing more than to see the quality of the work being done, the minute attention to detail that a printer must exercise, the value that lies in good printing, and the facilities this house has for extending just the services you need to make your printing of full value to you.

Holiday Gifts Of Distinction
Ideal Notes for Unique Articles Offered for Christmas.

When you are making up your Christmas gifts this year you will not fail to visit the Ideal Photo and Gift Shop, at 208 E. College and look over the hundreds of unique gifts there displayed. This shop has attained a remarkable reputation in the years it has been in business in this location for the good taste displayed in the selection of its novelties for the public.

These gifts include many articles that are inexpensive, but none the less attractive. They may be had in articles both useful and decorative. Included in them are a complete line of small cameras, from which little will afford more pleasure to the recipient. Picture frames may also be had.

Probably the gift most liked in all the category of Christmas remembrances is a photo of the giver. To present such a gift in an appropriate frame is admitting the recipient to a favored class in which the closeness of the relationship is acknowledged.

Among other lines the costume jewelry is sure to attract considerable attention. In fact, the store is known for this line all over this part of Wisconsin.

With so many things of value in the gift line, it would be a most pitiful person who could not find what he or she might want to express the value of a friendship at Christmas time or to send a greeting worth while.

The store has also an unusual line of greeting cards, one that has been selected with unusual care and that is as attractive as the more substantial gifts.

Purple was associated with royalty in early times because it was the finest and most expensive dye made by the ancients.

Famous Crystals is a convenient and economical mineral water treatment for home use.

Famous mineral water is a laxative water and is regularly used by many thousands of people as an effective agent in the maintenance of their health.

Scientists are generally agreed that that tired feeling so common in middle aged people, and not unknown in young people, comes from poison in the system, and in the majority of cases that old offender, poor elimination or auto intoxication and acidity, is blamed. Many have parted with their teeth and tonsils and submitted to various operations only to find they were afflicted with the same old trouble.

Get you a box of Famous Crystals today, and take a teaspoonful one half hour before breakfast in warm water. You may avoid that operation.

Rest on Sunday By Dining Out
Sure to Get Good Dinner At Appleton Junction Hotel

Sunday is made far more of a day of rest when the family is taken out to dinner. It is not only a pleasant vacation to a home maker, weary with the routine of the three meals a day, but it is also a change that makes food taste better, that eases the day's work and that is accompanied generally with satisfaction to all the members of the family.

Prices of good food are too often the bar to this. This story is designed to tell how one hotel has overcome this, and how much of a real rest one may obtain at the Appleton Junction Hotel conducted by Thomas T. Hill.

Mr. Hill has a fine old place in this hotel. He has good modern fixtures and a well equipped kitchen. The restaurant serves a business men's dinner every day, a special dinner Sunday, and has ample short order facilities, with clean and courteous service.

Specialty is made of the Sunday dinner. Dinners are served complete for 75 cents. Many Appleton people have found it a fine place to get an unusual Sunday dinner at low expense and the minimum of inconvenience.

Useful Presents Are Also Artistic

Remain Constant Reminders of Thoughtfulness Of the Giver

"One who wants to buy a really useful holiday present will find a visit to Sylvester and Nielsen, Inc., at 209 E. College Ave. well worth the time. The fact that these gifts are useful does not make them any the less artistic, either. The line of leather goods more especially will appeal to the quality loving buyer. Names may be imprinted on these goods in silver and gold by the most modern and effective process. In fact, this firm has put in special equipment to do this work, and its lettering on leather goods, books and other articles is of the highest character.

Then there are many other things in the line carried that make appropriate holiday gifts. Fountain pens, automatic pencils, desk sets, office furniture, portfolios, diaries, memorandum books and many other articles form gifts that become invaluable to the recipients, that serve a useful purpose and that are a constant reminder of the giver.

The purpose of the house is to maintain a high quality stock at reasonable prices. One may be sure that a gift from Sylvester and Nielsen stocks is worthy of the donor and the recipient.

Goods will be delivered anywhere in the territory without further charge.

Sunday Dinners At Valley Inn
Balanced Menus Made Up From Best Materials In Market

One of the most delightful ways of entertaining friends afforded in this part of the country is to drive over to Neenah and enjoy a dinner at the Valley Inn. Special dining rooms may be had for parties at no extra cost, and an evening at cards or other entertainment may be enjoyed in as strict seclusion as one could wish.

Special attention is given here to the preparation of steak and chicken dinners. The steaks are all carefully selected by the hotel manager, Joseph Weishaup, and are broiled under the attention of a skilled chef while the chickens are all milk-fed. The rest of the menu will be in keeping with a careful balance between the various kinds of foods, so that the dinner will be as wholesome as it is tasty.

Sunday dinners at the Inn have long been favorites with Appleton people, although the dinner every evening is exceptionally attractive. A special luncheon feature, at 50 cents is another attraction. The buffet serves a la carte orders all day and until 11: at night, with plate luncheons at the appropriate hours, and the regular dining room is open from 12 to 2 and 6 to 8.

Broadway Producer Is Fined in Traffic Case

Mamaroneck, N. Y. — (AP)—Peggy Fears, Broadway producer and wife of A. C. Blumenthal, movie magnate, and close friend of former Mayor Jimmy Walker, has had a police court lesson in the better part of valor as applied to nocturnal motorists.

She learned last night—tuition being a $10 fine—that if one drives at night without lights it would be better to have one's licenses along, or vice versa. Of course to get a grade of "A" from the professors of traffic one should really have both licenses and lights.

Miss Fears was fined $5 for absence of lights, $5 for not having a driver's license with her, and sentence was suspended on a charge that she had no registration license with her.

High School Cage Squads Win from Oshkosh

Varsity Cops
22 to 11, Bees
By 34-6 ScoreCaptain Bobbie Rule and
George Rooney Show
Well for "Regs"

COACH Joseph Shields of Appleton high school took his basketball squad down to Oshkosh last night, shuffled the decks and gave Assistant Coach Merlin Seims one half and took the other half. They then sent their respective "hands" out against Oshkosh high squad and both groups copped the decision.

The alleged "varsity" team took a 22 and 11 victory from the best of the Oshkosh squad, and the alleged "B" team took a 34 and 6 win from the second best on the Oshkosh squad. If the two Orange mentors figured they were going to find out which of the members of the young army of cagers was the best they know as little about it today as they did yesterday before game time.

The varsity squad went out and scored five points to its opponents' none in the first quarter and ended the half with the count 11 and 3 in its favor. In the third quarter the Appleton squad showed the score to 22 and 7 and then coasted through the fourth period going hitless while Oshkosh counted four points.

Bobbie Rule who is captain of the Appleton team this season distinguished himself as a guard, a slight change from his old forward post and contributed two field goals and three gift shots. Rooney was the scoring ace of the evening with four buckets. Cliff Burton at center got two.

The Appleton "B" team started scoring soon after the opening whistle and kept on until the final gun falling almost at leisure. They had possession of the ball so often they managed to collect but three field goals during the melee. Arnold at center made four baskets and Van Ryzin at forward copped three and six free throws. Johnston, forward, and Popp, guard, each had two buckets.

Portsmouth "Wild" Over Packer Game
Big Professional Battle Will Attract 12,000 Ohio Fans

Portsmouth, O.—(P)—Portsmouth has gone football mad.

As the Sunday game between the Portsmouth Spartans and the fast-stepping Green Bay Packers of the National Professional League approaches, there is but one subject of conversation here—the game and the possibility Portsmouth might win the championship.

A big reception is planned for the Packers when they arrive here tomorrow noon from Columbus, where they have been practicing.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 fans are expected to witness the contest.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

After a game in Ann Arbor this season, writes Harry Salsinger, who covers plenty of sporting territory for the Detroit News, a young reporter sat in the press box pounding out his story. He stopped and engaged in thought for a few minutes then turned to a writer sitting near him and asked:

"What else can I call this team? I've called 'em 'Wolverines' and 'Maize and Blue' and 'Kikemen' so many times in this story that I don't want to repeat. What other name is there?"

"Why don't you do something unique and original, something that would knock your readers cold?" responded the other writer.

"What's that?"

"Call 'em Michigan."

"I guess I'll have to," sighed the key-puncher.

Beloit Withdraws From Big 4 League

Will Continue to Play Lawrence and Ripon College Teams

Chicago.—(P)—The Big Four college conference of Wisconsin was reduced to three teams yesterday by the withdrawal of Beloit, a member since the group was formed in 1927.

Director of athletics Bob Jaggard said today the action was taken so Beloit might concentrate all its football attention next season on teams in the Midwest conference, an organization of nine colleges in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota.

Jaggard denied that Beloit decided to withdraw because of hard feeling toward Carroll college growing out of the football game between the two teams this fall as was rumored here yesterday. It is well known, however, that relations between Beloit and Carroll have been strained since the game, which, according to Beloit partisans, was unnecessarily rough.

Beloit's withdrawal leaves a conference composed of Carroll, Lawrence and Ripon. Both Ripon and Lawrence, however, are members of the Midwest group, so that Beloit will continue to play teams from these institutions.

Carroll's decision to withdraw does not mean that athletic relations with Carroll will be severed, Jaggard said. Two basketball games and a track meet are scheduled with the Panthers and the schedule will be carried out, he declared.

Jaggard said his football schedule for next fall will comprise only Midwest teams, with the exception of one or two preliminaries. Midwest football coaches met this morning to arrange 1933 schedules.

Relations with Carroll were broken off by Beloit in 1921, while Tommy Mills was director of athletics, and were not resumed until 1926 when Roy Bohler succeeded Mills.

The following year the Big Four was formed and Beloit and Carroll have met in football every fall since.

It is understood that authorities of Ripon, Lawrence and Carroll agreed to continue the conference as a three-team unit.

Beloit Mentor Seeks Tall Center for Team

Beloit.—(P)—The Beloit college basketball squad, working daily under Coach Bob Jaggard, faces the season under the same handicap it has experienced the last four years—no outstanding center.

The coach, however, has more candidates than he could use, for the first time since he came to Beloit, and had to cut his squad. He retained 17 men.

Co-Captains Chuck Heiss, Delavan, and Bob Dupe, Freeport, Ill., probably will be regulars, and Art Whitson, Aurora, Ill., and Dick Kelly, Glen Ellyn, Ill., will see considerable action. Bob Bloom and Walter Duval, Chicago sophomores, are being groomed for the forward positions.

Fort Howards in Win Over Shoes

Bay Team Concentrates Efforts in First Half; Score 38-21

R. and S. Shoes basketball team ran into strong competition last night when it met the Fort Howard team at the local Y. M. C. A. courts at the local Y. M. C. A. The Bay team copped the verdict by a 38 and 21 count.

Showing Arnie Raeser, former East high star, Osmond, Ball and Capelle, the best independent and industrial performers in the northern city's cage circles, the Fort Howards walked away to a 23 and 6 lead in the first half. During the second stanza each team counted 15 points but the big margin of the first period was too much to overcome.

It was the first defeat for the Shoes in eight starts. The game was played on the local Y. M. C. A. courts.

The Shoes are reported seeking a game with the Kimberly club team on the village's floor or elsewhere, but so far claim the Papermakers have steered clear of them.

Janesville Boy N. D. Fullback

Anderson Drills New Protege to Replace Two Injured Stars

South Bend, Ind.—(P)—Apparently equipped with a superabundance of fullbacks at the start of the season, Coach Heartley Anderson of Notre Dame, has been forced to make a new one out of a halfback.

John (Red) Tobin of Janesville, yesterday was shifted from right half to full, and will continue to drill there, to be ready in case Steve Banas and George Melnikovich are not in shape to play against Southern California Dec. 10.

Both Banas and Melnikovich are on the hospital list.

Jack Robinson, regular center, today spent three days in the infirmary with an attack of influenza, and Joe Kurth, brilliant tackle, joined him there last night. Robinson may not be able to leave with the squad Monday, but Kurth's illness was described as mild, and he probably will be out by tomorrow.

Minor Leaguers Gathering for Winter Meeting

Committee to Recommend Ban on Broadcasting of Games

COLUMBUS, O.—(P)—Minor league baseball moguls were arriving here today for their annual stock-taking.

Harrassed by many difficult problems, intensified by present-day conditions, the magnates converged on Ohio's capital to attend the thirty-first annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, opening tomorrow.

Every minor league club in the country and some of the majors will be represented, the latter to negotiate possible player deals.

Dwindling gate receipts, radio broadcasting of games, and limitation of the number of players on each team will be among the subjects discussed during the session, which will continue through next Friday.

Discontinuance of broadcasts will be recommended by a committee of five named by the association, but some of the clubs oppose such a plan, believing radio descriptions of the games create added interest, particularly among local fans.

Limitation of player rosters also is favored by the committee which has just completed a national survey of minor leagues.

Other recommendations of the committee will include salary reductions, closer supervision of the geographical makeup of the leagues to curtail traveling expenses, and election of an executive committee to replace the national board of arbitration.

The initial meeting tomorrow will hold a joint session with the International and Pacific Coast leagues. The national board of arbitration will meet Tuesday and the first general session of the national association will be held Wednesday.

J. Bender Named Cage Official

Will Be Commissioner of Older Boy League At Y. M. C. A.

Julian "Juicy" Bender was named the high commissioner or "Judge Lands" of the Older Boy basketball league of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting last night at the association. He will see that all games are played on scheduled time, receive all protests and select officials for all games. C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary of the association will assist in running the league.

Nine teams were represented at last night's meeting of the league, submitted player lists and drew the schedule for the first week's play which starts Tuesday evening.

The league again will play Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons. A tenth league team will be entered before the schedule gets started.

The schedule for Tuesday night is: Merchants vs. Stag Hi-Y; Valley Sports vs. S. O. S.; Third Ward Wolves vs. Pond Juniors. On Saturday, Dec. 10, Delta Hi-Y will play Sousa Triangles and the Badgers will meet the team still to be organized.

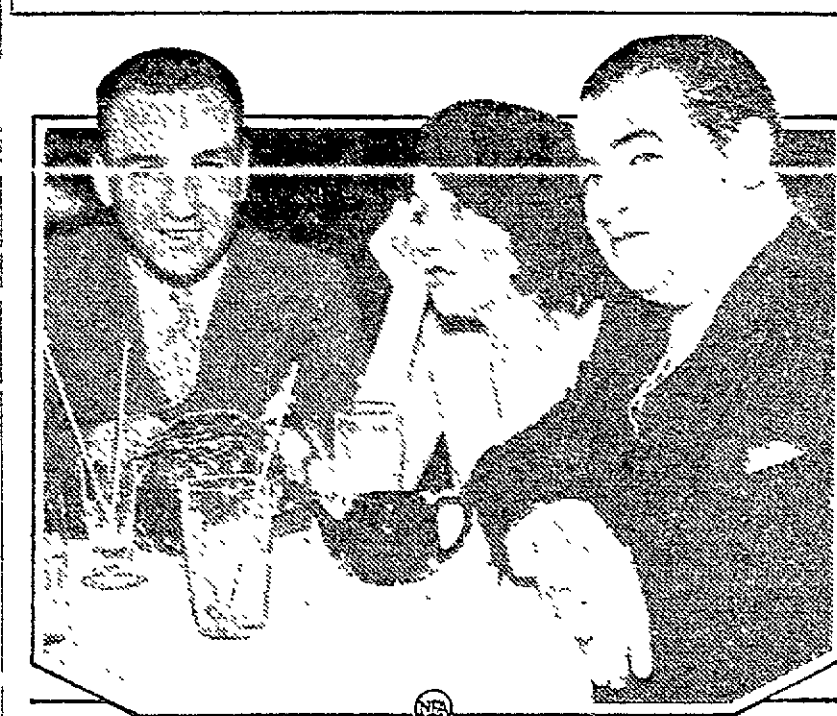

Send Volley Ball Team to Oshkosh

A volleyball team from the Y. M. C. A. will go to Oshkosh Monday night where it will meet Oshkosh's Elks team on the latter's floor. The two teams recently clashed here in a three way tournament.

Will be Dr. R. V. Landis, Dr. Guy W. Carlson, Fred Schlitz, G. Mul-Jen, Harold Schroeder, Bobbie Heiss, Dr. H. N. Delbridge, Bert Norling and Gordon Eelow.

Captains Green in 1923
Philip J. Glazer, veteran right tackle of Delmouth's Big Green football squad, will lead the team from Hanover, N. H., next year. The new captain hails from Memphis, Tenn.

MAYBE MOVIES LURE FIELDS

Perhaps it was the weather, perhaps the movies, and yet again it may have been the charm of all the pretty girls who flit around Hollywood—anyhow, above is Jackie Fields, welterweight champ mauler, caught in a more or less unguarded moment with that fiery lover of the screen, Lupe Velez. Fields, left, was enjoying a night in a Hollywood night club with Lupe and Lew Brown, right, song writer, when this picture was taken.

Future of Minor Sports Programs Big Ten Problem

Basketball Coaches Accept 10 Second Rule in Noisy Session

CHICAGO.—(P)—The immediate future of minor sports was up for decision before the Western conference today, and it didn't look very bright.

The income of big brother football having been reduced to such an extent that he can hardly support himself, let alone all his smaller brothers, athletic directors of the group were out to cut down the load. Not only were the minor sports, swimming, fencing, golf, tennis, gymnastics, wrestling and boxing, likely to be abandoned for a time, or radically trimmed, but a like fate appeared to await track and baseball.

While economy measures were being planned, intramural directors present for their meeting were looking more than a little pleased. For, if intercollegiate sports are reduced in importance, intramural activities figure to come in for more attention.

May Change Rule

The faculty committee on athletics which was to have acted on the question of post season football games, with the possibility of Michigan's appearance in the tournament of roses game the prime item, had little on its meeting schedule. It was expected the faculty men would consider some revision of the rules which would permit post season games at intervals in the future, but the Michigan angle was out. Southern California having taken care of it by inviting Pittsburgh to go west.

Basketball coaches got the jump on heads of other departments yesterday. After a long noisy session, they decided to adhere to the ten second rule, and ratified their schedules for 1934.

While the basketball coaches were meeting, Michigan's disappointment at not getting the rose bowl bid furnished material for a lot of conversation. Athletic directors declared that the faculty committee was almost certain to have given approval although the secret vote on the proposition was five to five according to lobby gossip.

George Fahrback, Neenah, Taken Into Custody by Night Patrolman

Kaukauna—George Fahrback, Neenah, was arrested here about 3 o'clock Saturday morning by Officer John Haid, night patrolman, on a charge of attempting to burglarize a soft drink parlor operated on Island-st. by Joseph Schermitzler. Fahrback, with a companion, was attempting to jimmy a window when taken into custody by Officer Haid, the latter charged.

The movements of the two men were watched for several minutes by workmen in the Union Bag and Paper Co. mill, which is adjacent to the Schermitzler building. The two men drove to the place in an automobile, parking the machine nearby. When Officer Haid was notified one of the men was seen to run, but Fahrback, who was driving the automobile, surrendered. He is being held at the police station, where he is being investigated.

When questioned by police Fahrback said he was bringing a load of beer for a man who formerly operated the place. He denied that he had been accompanied by another man. Police this morning were questioning several suspects.

for LOVE or MONEY H.W. CORLEY

MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is in love with BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, whom she met through STEVE SACCAR, RELL, her childhood sweetheart. Steve and Barry have just returned from South America where—largely by chance—Steve became associated with Barry in operating a diamond mine, once believed worthless but now valuable. Steve owns a huge diamond called "The Empress of Peru." Gangsters try to steal the stone but he outwits them. Steve has earned Mona's gratitude by befriending her errant brother, BUD, sending him to South America and giving him a job at the mine. Mona needs $500 for hospital treatments for her invalid father. Her employer agrees to loan her the money and then makes an amazing proposal. He tells Mona a wealthy client wishes to marry her immediately with the understanding she shall occupy her own apartment, have unlimited charge accounts and do whatever she wishes for a year. At the end of that time she may become the man's wife in actuality or secure a divorce. She asks the man's name and is told it is Barry Townsend. Mona agrees. Her friend, LOTTIE CARB, model in a fashionable dress, goes with her to the Townsend home. There Mona learns it is Barry's uncle, of the same name, whom she is to marry. Young Barry and Steve have sailed for South America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV

In a flash Mona understood what her husband had intended. Barry and his uncle had the same name. But only Mr. Garretson and a few intimates ever called the older man "Barry." On legal documents the name was "John Barnett Townsend."

Mona had given her word to marry this stranger. The wedding had been arranged, beyond doubt, to harass young Barry further. Someone—Barry himself possibly—had blurted out his interest in the red-haired girl in Garretson's office and this had been his uncle's retaliation!

She saw the whole revolting plot. She would be John Barnett Townsend's wife in name only but young Barry would not know that! She could secure a divorce within a year! Doubtless (Mona's lips curled at the thought) she would be persuaded, with no choice in the matter, to get a divorce. The divorced wife of his uncle would not appeal to young Barry. She was practically being hired to hoodwink Barry—hired as surely as though the account opened in Mr. Garretson's bank in her name had been doled out in salary checks.

Mona turned to Mr. Garretson and was amazed to see only the kindest concern on his face. Was it possible that he knew nothing of the fraud? Garretson must have inferred all along that Mona understood it was the older man she was to marry. Mr. Garretson had not even dreamed she knew young Barry, much less was in love with him.

"Can you sit up, Barry, if I hold you?" Mr. Garretson was saying anxiously.

The minister, a lean-faced young man, drew nearer. Mrs. Faxon arrived from somewhere and the nurse cleared her throat expectantly.

"But you aren't going to marry this old man!" Lottie whispered sharply to Mona. "They've fooled you—don't stand for it. If you lose your job I'll see you through."

Mona shook off Lottie's objections and moved nearer. She'd go through the ceremony. She would live up to her part of the bargain and she'd take the money they offered and use it, too. In some way, some how, she would make John Barnett Townsend pay! He would pay for ruining her life and ruining Barry's life.

"So Barry wouldn't stay," she repeated, smiling, with no sign of the tumult in her heart. "Possibly he didn't approve of your choice of a bride." Her voice sounded metallic, unnatural.

For once Lottie was speechless. She watched Mona calmly remove her glove, clasp hands with the man who had betrayed her trust, and in a few swift sentences become his wife.

"And now shall we go?" Mona smiled when she had become Mrs. John Barnett Townsend. "As I understand it, I am free to go and go as I wish, to make my home at the Townsend house in 63rd street."

Her husband bowed. "To come and go as you like with, of course, one stipulation—almost unnecessary to mention. You are to conduct yourself so that no action in any way reflects on your new name."

Mona bowed.

Mr. Townsend waved a generous hand. "Go anywhere you like for a few days—the Ritz, Atlantic City. A suite in the 63rd street house is being renovated for you. Garretson will arrange all financial matters. Suppose you take a week enjoying yourself. Shopping possibly, visiting your family, getting adjusted to your new—er—situation. Take your friend here with you." He broke off in a spasm of coughing.

The two girls left the room in silence. Mona, head held high, said nothing as they walked down the wide stairway. At the foot she turned to Lottie.

"A year isn't forever—" Flinging her head back she turned to the butler. "Tell Mr. Garretson that he'll find us at the—"

"Ritz," Mona repeated firmly, drawing on her gloves.

Mr. Garretson appeared at the top of the stairway. Miss Moran, ex-Mrs. Townsend, he called. "One moment." The lawyer descended hurriedly. "Here is the ring, the engagement ring, you know. It hadn't been completed yesterday when we talked matters over. Possibly you would like to wear it with—" he pointed to the platinum circlet almost shyly "with that."

The ring he held was magnificent. Even Lottie gasped. A huge emerald surrounded with diamonds, gleamed in the palm of his lean brown hand. "Your birthstone," he explained. "Mr. Townsend ascertained that you were born in May."

Mona took the ring absently, weighed it in her closed hand for a moment, and then looked in her eyes. When she lifted her eyes they held an infinitely weary look in their depths.

"If you need anything," Mr. Garretson was saying, "call me. Or call Stroud. Wait a minute—I'll call him from here. Going to the Ritz? That's fine. Get Stroud on the phone about any cash."

Jackson was waiting and the girls moved through the door.

"Well, do that little thing," Lottie responded over her shoulder as Mona did not answer.

"To the Ritz, Jackson."

"Yes, Madame. I found out about the car, Miss," Jackson turned to Mona. "The car, Miss. Mr. Steve drove back to town, last night, and Mr. Barry followed in the V57. We calls the cars by their license numbers here. And the roadster went aboard the Miranda with the young men, Miss. The V57 came back alone."

"Thanks," was Lottie's brief rejoinder.

As the car glided forward Lottie saw that Mona's eyes were filled with tears.

The two girls spent the next few days at the Ritz in what Lottie termed an orgy of shopping. True to his word, Mr. Garretson had notified Stroud. They found, upon arrival at the hotel, that a suite had been set aside for Mrs. Townsend and her companion and an account opened. Mrs. Townsend was to draw on the hotel for any amount.

"I suppose you'll be dropping in to see your mother," Lottie asked casually the second day as Mona stepped into the car.

Mona snapped her purse open and in the recesses of the car powdered her nose thoughtfully. "Soon. This afternoon, as a matter of fact. Want to come?"

For answer Lottie stretched herself yawningly but with a meaning glance.

"Listen, I crave lunch! Never mind what time I had breakfast. Just for a lark, let's gallop up to the apartment. What do you say? I've always wanted to see that place by daylight."

"Anything you like," Mona responded indifferently, handing the speaking tube, to Lottie without glancing up.

Lottie gave the driver instructions briefly and then bent toward Mona. "While you were in that shop I started a conversation with the boy friend outside," she said in a low tone.

Mona raised her eyebrow, intent upon the shaping of her lower lip.

"Boy friend?"

"Jackson. Remember he said that he had driven the doctor over to see—er—your husband? He told us that yesterday while we were driving up to the wedding? Well—" She paused importantly.

"Maybe I should break his gently. The doctor was a specialist, see? Heart specialist. Dr. Dunn, the local physician, had him up from New York. Jackson heard this specialist say that Townsend wouldn't live a year! Any shock might kill him outright. Any shock!"

"Not a year? Then I'll never have to decide about things—"

"A year at the most was what the doctor said. But they didn't tell Mr. Townsend or any of the people around him. Didn't want him to know because that would be a shock. His business affairs are all in order. They always have been. Mr. Garretson sees to that."

"He can't live a year," Mona repeated.

"Will or no will, you're in for quite a slice of his money," Lottie said thoughtfully. "There is a will, though."

Raze Landmark At New London

Barn in Rear of Waupaca Residence Formerly Was Church

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—One of this city's oldest landmarks is being torn down. This is the building located at the rear of the residence owned by Mrs. Anna Mack, who now lives in California, located on the north side of Waupaca-st. This building, of recent years used as a barn, was built by the Baptist congregation in about 1866. Only a few families still remain, the names of which were prominently connected with the church organization in the early days of New London. Among them are the Lyons, the Hiram Lyons of former days being active in the affairs of the church. Other names, those of the Knappes and the Ritters, recall to the oldest residents days when the city was in a state of settlement.

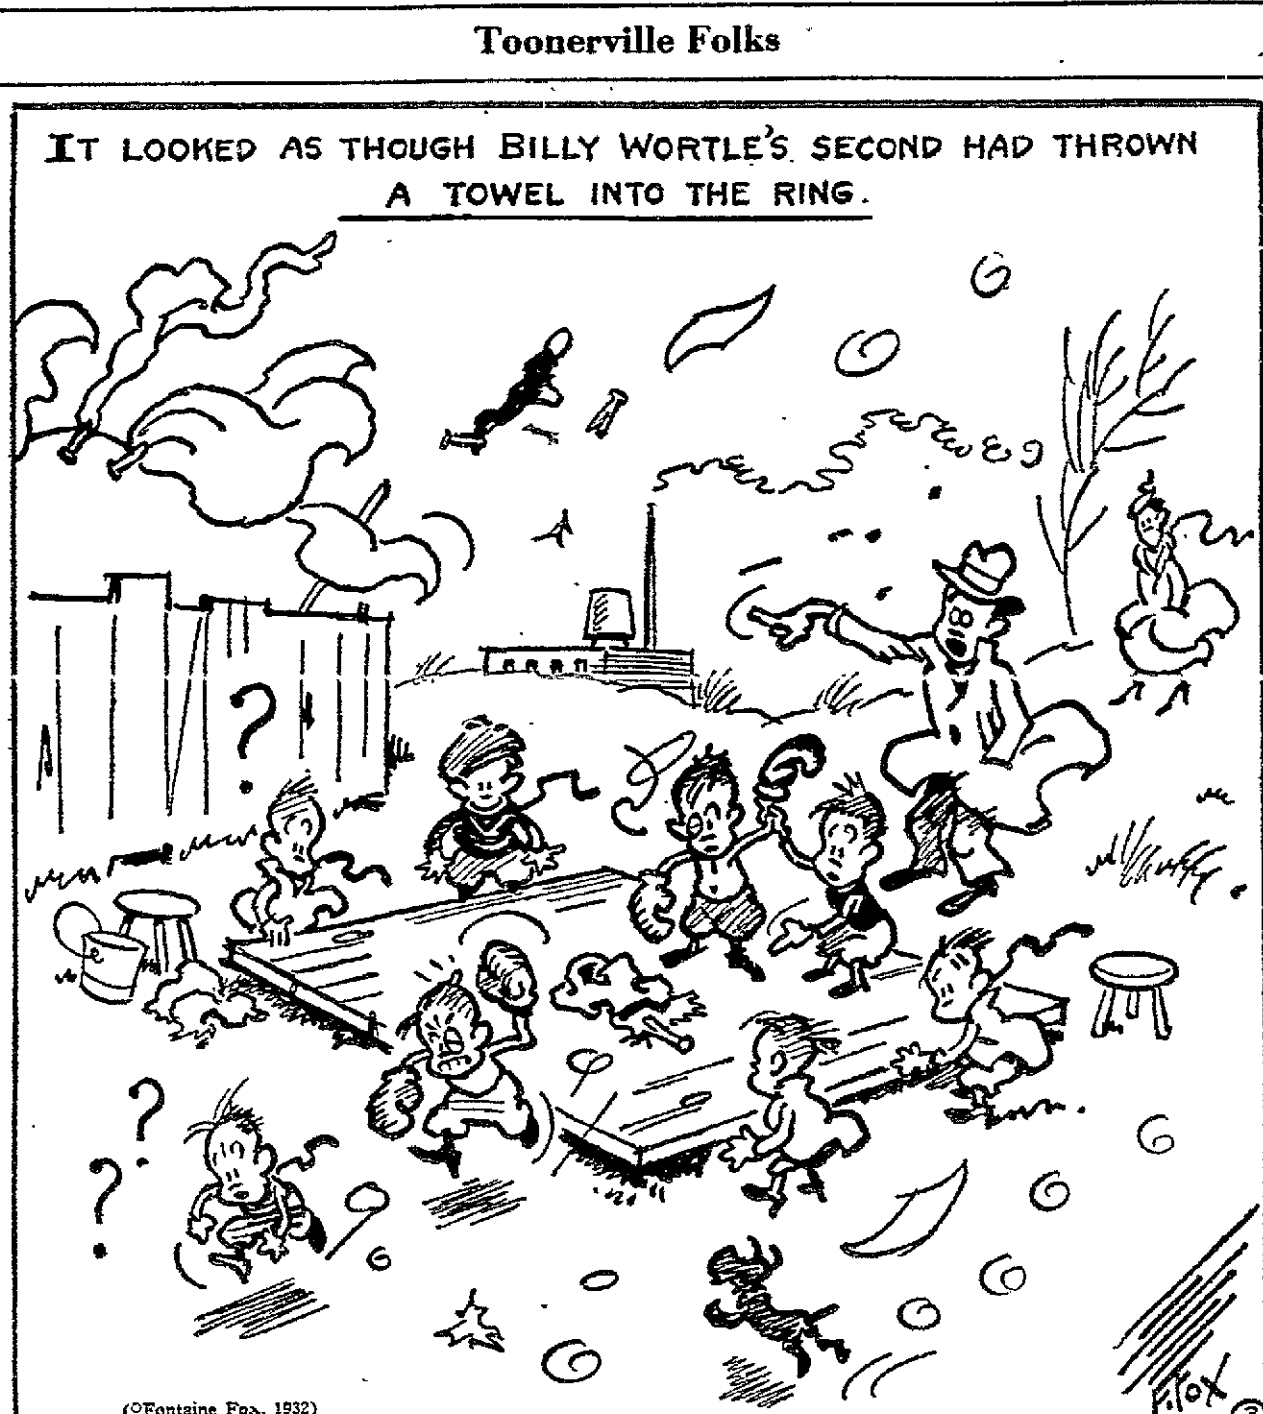

The Baptist organization flourished for a time and then disbanded. Before this, however, it was a scene of many social affairs, and residents recall weekly meetings which were held annually on New Year's eve and many affairs which brought the residents together socially. Mrs. Mary Jilson, before her marriage Mary Ritter, was a member of this congregation, and the Ritter name still recalls incidents connected with early city history.

Later the church was sold to the Adventists, who used it for a time. It was then sold and moved to the back of the lot on which a residence was built. Since then it has served as a barn and is now being dismantled by Louis Wainer.

Venison Stolen From Hutchinson Residence

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Another clue has been found to prove that the meanest man is still at large. Who he is, or where he is, is still a mystery, but Tom Hutchinson, 227 Wisconsin, will for a long time look distinctly suspicious at anyone's mention of venison, for his mind venison and the meanest man are synonymous. Mr. Hutchinson, one of the oldest and most expert of hunters in this section, recently returned from the north, bringing with him a good sized buck. This was carried into the Hutchinson basement for safekeeping. The general chagrin of the Hutchinson family became most apparent Friday when a discovery was made that the deer had been stolen. Entrance was made through an outside cellar door.

Waupaca County Fair Issue Causes Debate

Weyauwega—A matter which has caused a great deal of interest and concern the past few days, is whether Waupaca County fair is a worthwhile project. For the past two years the project has not been self-supporting, receipts being insufficient to meet expenses and pay premiums. At a special meeting of the village board on Nov. 23, a communication was presented, accompanied by a petition bearing the signatures of 33 business men, asking for a donation to the fair association of $500 to meet these expenses, the money to be raised in the regular tax budget.

Five of the members of the board voted yes and two voted no on the ballot taken on the question.

It is contended by the officials of the fair association that the fair brings considerable business to Weyauwega, through supplies etc.; added business through shopping and that the fair employs several men and women to carry on the work for the week of its duration.

Taxpayers other than business men claim that they should not be assessed for this extra amount for something which does them no apparent good and are about to present to the board a request for repeal of the appropriation, accompanied by a petition signed by taxpayers.

A double quartet of Waupaca men gave a concert to a large audience in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. The quartet included: C. H. Solie, Tom Hansen, Reuben Danielson, T. W. Lowe, Claude Hartman, E. P. Sill, J. A.

Hold Quilting Party For Mrs. Ben Peterson

Leeman — A quilting party was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ben Peterson for the benefit of her sister, Mrs. Laurel Canner, whose home was recently destroyed by fire.

Miss Elsie Sveinick left the past week for Appleton, where she will be employed.

A large crowd attended the meeting and dinner served by Mrs. J. H. Johnson at her home Wednesday for the benefit of the Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church.

The Leeman school was closed Wednesday afternoon on account of the illness of the teacher, Miss Beulah Locke.

A number of farmers with teams and trucks assisted Frank Berst Wednesday in moving his household goods, farm produce and machinery to a farm near Galesburg from the John Larson farm he had occupied in the town of Navarino for the past two years. Those assisting in the moving were William Jarchow, Fred Falk, Nels Nelson, Oscar Rasmussen, Emil Larson and John Stygar.

New York — (P) — The stock market continued to crawl along the bottom of the trading range of the past two months today.

Prices dipped a trifle in the early dealings, but showed no signs of breaking through the resistance levels of October and November, and developed a steadier tone in the last hour.

Net changes at the finish were mostly of inconsequential proportions, with some of the leaders showing fractional gains. The closing tone was steady. The turnover for the two-hour session approximated 400,000 shares.

Along with the imponderable war debt situation, legislative uncertainties began to loom large, with congress slated to convene on Monday. Traders, therefore, were still content to let the securities markets drift.

Sentiment in Wall Street, as gauged by brokerage comment appeared to have taken a slight change in the past day or two, but caution was still the keynote. Reduced estimates of the Argentine wheat crop were stressed in some quarters as throwing a somewhat more cheerful light on the wheat market, but rumors of the formation of a bull pool were widely discounted.

The weekly freight car loadings report was distorted by the Thanksgiving day holiday, but the drop was 81,969 cars from the previous week, a little smaller than in the like week of last year. As a result, the total was only 116 per cent under last year, the smallest divergence of the year.

Cases closed 3 of a point higher, after registering a loss of about 1 point earlier. Johns Manville was off a major fraction at the finish, and there was some further selling of the amusement stocks, with Loews down about a point, and Radio a fraction. Paramount was turned over in some volume at 1 1/2, yesterday's final price. North American virtually regained an early loss of 1 point. Union Pacific was fair throughout, and closed with a gain of 3/4. American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric and American Tobacco "B" finished 1/2 point higher, and U. S. Steel was up 1/4.

In commodities, bar silver sank 1/4 to another new low at 24 1/2 an ounce, and cotton eased, closing 30 to 35 cents a bale lower.

Foreign exchange rates again decreased. The pound sterling dropped 1/4 cents to $3.18 1/2 for cables. The Canadian dollar sagged 1/4 of a cent, and the European gold currencies eased a trifle.

Curb Stocks in Narrow Limits

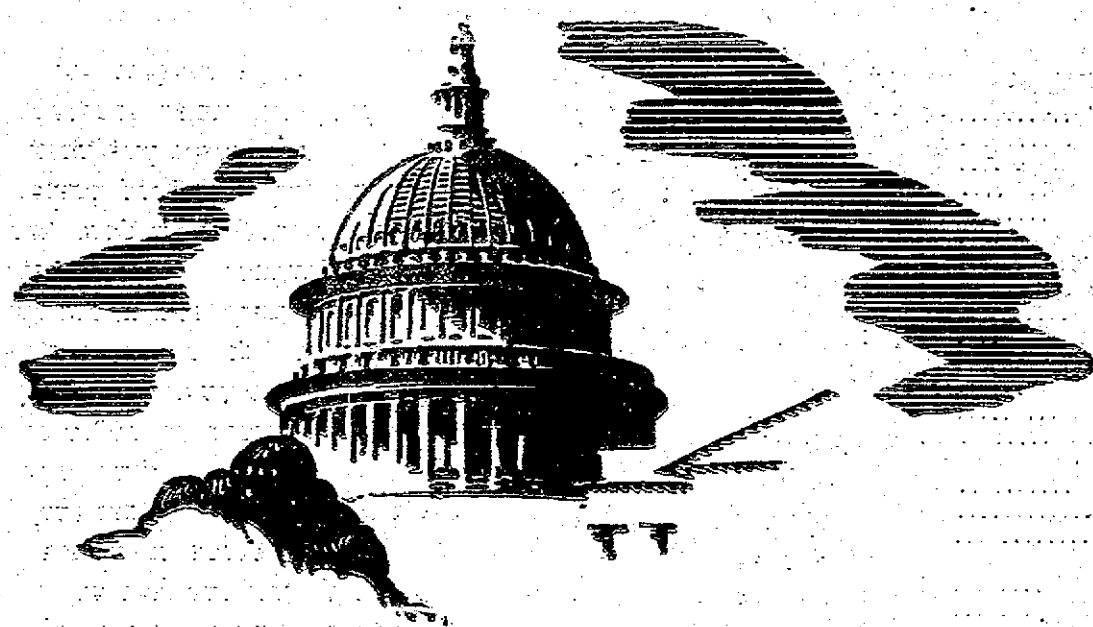

Session Devoted Largely to Evening Up Professional Accounts

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer
New York — (P) — In a session devoted largely to the evening up of professional accounts for the weekend, curb stocks continued to move within narrow limits, and without a definite trend.

Trading in the leading utilities accounts for a considerable part of the day's business. Electric Bond and Share had a good sized turnover, and a late rally cancelled some of the stock's early loss. American Gas and Electric, Niagara Hudson Power and American Gas and Electric ended the session a sharp lower. United Light and Power "A" firmed after an early dip.

The industrial division showed a preponderance of declines. Deere and Co., Monmouth Mining and Lake Shore Lines Ltd. yielded slightly on small offerings. Standard of Indiana was active near the close with the transfer of two or three good sized blocks. It rose fractionally but failed to carry other oils upward.

Major Social Issues

Will Europe repudiate or pay? Will America cancel or collect?

Will beer bring back the saloon? Will the brewery oust the bootlegger?

On these and all great questions, social, economic and moral, "The Christian Century" fearlessly, fairly and accurately gives you a clear, firm hold on every phase. Mail coupon below for lowest offer ever made to new subscribers.

Aroused interest, eager inquiry and earnest consultation is more necessary and natural under the impact of an emergency than in normal times.

Today there is a wholesome portent of future, steady improvement in the evident resolve of our citizens to be possessed of solid facts and a safe philosophy by which to judge the swift current of events.

Hence the rising importance of "The Christian Century" and the increasing eagerness with which it is being read and quoted. Indeed "The Christian Century", noted always as providing the best stimulus to wide vision and wise action, is more necessary now than ever.

"Let George Do It"—A Dangerous Plan

Where heretofore we have passed our problems on to committees, legislators or self-styled leaders, now the virile, pioneer spirit of individual responsibility is asserting itself. We have come to know that the only way out is by the energy and efficiency of our own efforts. Before we can judge what to do in a social structure that has grown complicated, we must get possession of the facts and have a clear understanding of eventualities.

The Safe Leadership of "The Christian Century"

No other magazine presents so clear and sweeping a survey of normal and spiritual forces influencing modern life as "The Christian Century". Consecrated to the ideal of spiritual advance, it reflects the best thought of our highest minds ablaze with a passion to spread Peace, Prosperity and Good-Will over the earth and to lift living to a higher level of Christian fellowship.

Each week this dauntless organ of informed leadership analyzes the current news and the trend of contemporary thought. It gives you not the view of any one man, but the synthesis of many profound minds, clarified and deepened by undoubted consecration, wrestling with the wrongs of the world as they crop up in your community, attacking the evils that retard progress. Its editors and contributors are men of vision and resolution. They see a better world but also the devious paths that lead to substantial progress through the present maze of pressing, fateful issues.

New Phase of the Prohibition Fight

Even the opponents of "The Christian Century" recognize its worth. In the former phase of the fight for Prohibition the Passaic (N. J.) Daily Herald said:

"We recommend 'The Christian Century' to those of our readers who believe in Prohibition which we do not. It is perhaps the only weekly review in America which is militantly dry and which presents an able argument for Prohibition. We disagree with it completely, but we read it faithfully and we commend it to those who wish to read an intelligent presentation of the prohibition cause."

"The Christian Century", fully convinced that modern life demands a sober society but open-minded as to methods, now faces the new phase of prohibition, determined to deal with each argument on its merits and to subject the whole question to the most careful and scientific analysis that can be obtained, committed to nothing but the resolve that whatever is done must result in a better social order.

Items of Importance in Our Editorial Program for 1933

MOVIES:

Dr. Fred Eastman, recognized authority of the social influences of the movies, whose series of articles, "The Menace of the Movies," widened international influence will soon begin another series exposing the many pernicious influences on our children of which the movies are now guilty and pointing them to a higher plan of educational value. A series every parent should read.

FOREIGN DEBTS:

Are European Powers deliberately planning to saddle a debt of Eleven Billion Dollars on American taxpayers? What are the facts behind this infinitely intricate and difficult question? What are the political and psychological factors involved? During the next year "The Christian Century" will be of inestimable value in giving you comprehension of the world problems that are at the bottom of present-day difficulties.

DISARMAMENT:

Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor, was the guest of the French Government at the signing of the Kellogg Peace Pact in Paris. Our special correspondent at Geneva will give accurate and timely information on the World Disarmament Conference and World Economic Congress. Our treatment of international questions is watched with care by all statesmen—this year both Frank B. Kellogg and Henry L. Stimson commented directly to the editor on material in our columns.

ECONOMICS:

We have projected what amounts to a University post graduate course dealing with national and international economic issues. We are gathering a faculty of 25 of the world's most distinguished leaders to present the cream of their latest thought in a series of articles covering the year. Men like F. J. Lomen, authority on Railroads, Prof. James Harvey Rogers, Gold Standard expert, Carl Snyder, Managed Currency; Sidney Hook, Marxism as a theory; John D. Black on Agriculture, and others equally expert.

FOREIGN MISSIONS:

Pearl S. Buck, author of the Pulitzer prize novel, "The Good Earth", and the present best seller, "Sons", born of a missionary family and herself a missionary, endorses the Laymen's Foreign Mission Report in the strongest possible terms. She is but one of many authorities in this field who will, throughout the year, discuss, pro and con, the multifarious phases of this report which will result in an utter realignment of Foreign Mission purpose and effort.
